PRESS INQUIRY BY CONGRESS STIRS CAPITAL

Investigations Arouse Interest in Legislative Power Over Papers
MORE RIGID LAWS SEEN
Inference Is That Power Company May Control Editorial Policies

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1929 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—The investigation by the Federal Trade commission of the part that paper and power interests play in the financing of newspapers has developed much discussion as to the legislative relationship of the government to publications.
There are some members of congress who think that the present laws requiring a statement of ownership are not adequate and that second class privileges should be denied to publications which are dominated by special interests. The present inquiry of course, relates to no violation of existing law insofar as ownership is concerned except that it will lead to clarifying regulations as to how ownership statements shall be made out. There would, of course, be opposition to any proposal to deny mail privileges to newspapers that were owned by power companies or by other interests for the same principle has been debated before and the fear has been expressed that to deny one group of citizens the right to own properties might lead to similar discrimination against others and might be eliminated by the courts on constitutional grounds.
WHY IT IS IMPORTANT
Were it not for the long trail of testimony uncovered by the commission relating to the aggressive activities of power companies in presenting their viewpoint in schools, colleges and the press there would not today be so much importance attached to the commission's investigation of the ownership of newspaper properties. Broadly speaking, the inference that the power company would indirectly influence the editorial policy of a newspaper it had befriended is in the minds of many members of congress. While the practice of purchasing interests by power companies has not been widespread there is already a pronounced tendency against its extension.
So far as the individual publishers are concerned their testimony before the commission has been a vigorous denial of any assumption that the holding of junior securities or minority stocks was in any way the exercise of a control or even an influence upon them or their policies. The question goes really to the intellectual honesty of the individual publisher and it is on this point that the issue will be decided in each case though the subject of ownership, minority or otherwise, in newspaper properties by banks, corporations and other interests which might be principals in the controversies of a given community or state is not a new one and is already a vital factor among publishers competing for the confidence of their audiences.
The hearing before the federal trade commission will lead to a report by the commission when it gets through its investigation in pursuance of a senate resolution adopted last year. The postoffice department has been asked by another senate resolution to furnish a list of post office statements relative to ownership and any violations of law in this category must be initiated by the postoffice department through the department of justice.

OSHKOSH MAN FOUND DEAD NEAR COTTAGE

Coroner Believes Dead Man on Shore of Green Bay Is Suicide

Green Bay—(AP)—With a charge of shot through the heart, the body of Henry Marha, 65, Oshkosh, was found yesterday about 200 yards from the cottage of his sister, Mrs. William Malchow, on the shore of Green Bay just east of Suamico. A shotgun lay beside the body. Coroner Frank Hodek pronounced it a case of suicide.
Marha had come from Oshkosh to make his home with his sister on the Bay shore. His health had been poor, and he is said to have told several persons "you won't see me again."
Mrs. Malchow heard what it is believed to have been the fatal shot about 10 o'clock in the morning, but paid little attention to it, thinking that her brother was shooting crows. When he failed to appear for dinner, a search was begun.
Marha is survived by another sister, Mrs. Burt Schultz of Oshkosh.

MAN WHO BATTLED NEWHALL FIRE DIES

Milwaukee—(AP)—The number of living firemen who fought the historic Newhall house fire in Milwaukee was reduced by one today with the death of James T. Owens, 75. Scores of lives were lost when the famous hostility was consumed by fire some years ago.

House Sends Aid Bill To Joint Group

Washington—(AP)—The house today voted to send the farm relief bill carrying the disputed export debenture plan to conference for conciliation of the differences with the senate.
The debenture proposition was written into the measure by the senate and for a time house leaders were undecided whether to receive the bill, contending the debenture proposal constituted revenue legislation and therefore under constitutional mandate should originate in the house.
The house Republican leadership, however, decided to waive what they contended constituted an invasion of the constitutional rights of the house so that the bill could be sent to conference immediately and thereby materially expedite final action on farm relief legislation.
As a result of the house's action the bill is now placed in the hands of a conference committee, composed of members of both houses.
The house Republican leaders are hopeful this conference group will decide to eliminate the debenture plan.
The house voted 249 to 119 to send the measure to conference.
The resolution was supported almost solidly by Republicans, while most of the Democrats lined up against it.
Speaker Longworth named as house conferees Chairman Haugen and Representative Farnell of Indiana, and Williams of Illinois, Republicans, and Aswell of Louisiana, and Kincheloe, of Kentucky, Democrats, the five ranking members of the house agriculture committee, all of whom voted in committee against inclusion of the debenture plan in the house farm bill.
The senate already has named Chairman McNary and Senators Norris of Nebraska, and Capper of Kansas, Republicans, and Smith of South Carolina, and Ransdell of Louisiana, Democrats, the five ranking members of its agriculture committee, as conferees.

$50,000 FIRE DAMAGE AT VILLAGE BUILDINGS

Dorchester—(AP)—Four business establishments were destroyed and the Dorchester bank was damaged by fire here early today. Firemen from Owen, Abbottsford and Colby aided the local force in subduing the blaze. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss was put at $50,000.

Schools, Less Than Five Years Old, Are Condemned

Chicago—(AP)—Two grade school buildings, built less than five years ago at a cost of approximately $500,000 each, have been ordered closed following statements of engineers that they were unsafe for occupancy.
H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the board of education urged State's Attorney John A. Swanson to make an investigation into circumstances surrounding the schools' construction.
Thirteen other schools of the same type were regarded by the engineers as safe for the present, but will be kept under close scrutiny to prevent further deterioration. Nineteen others were considered safe, but were said to show faults in almost every branch of construction.
The condemned schools, the engineers said, showed faulty design,

85 OTHERS IN CLINIC BLAST LIKELY TO DIE

Cleveland, O.—(AP)—Fear that 80 percent of the surviving victims of the Cleveland Clinic disaster will die within a few days from effects of the poison gas they inhaled, was expressed today by Harry L. Rockwood, city health commissioner and concurred in by a number of doctors and chemists.
The exact number of persons who inhaled the deadly fumes that came from burning x-ray films and other chemicals is unknown, but doctors estimated there were at least 100 besides those who already have died.
If Rockwood's fears prove true, 85 more deaths will be added to the present total of 125.
BEGIN INQUEST
An official inquest in the disaster was begun today by County Coroner A. J. Pearce.
Those of the clinic's staff of doctors who survived the disaster opened temporary headquarters in another building and prepared to "carry on" the semi-philanthropic work that was ended so abruptly Wednesday by fire explosions, and deadly poison gas.
Backing the group of doctors of the clinic were 23 of Cleveland's most wealthy and prominent citizens with almost unlimited resources at their command. Samuel E. Matheny, nationally known for his philanthropy, headed the committee.
Struck by a property damage estimated at $800,000, the original clinic will be rebuilt. Within a month to six weeks, this structure, famous from coast to coast as the headquarters of many of America's greatest doctors and surgeons, will be reopened, the committee announced today.
Dr. George W. Crile, one of the founders of the institution said: "We must go on."
Grief-stricken and overburdened with the tragedy which had come upon him, the surgeon, who gained international renown through gold research and other medical discoveries, laid plans with the committee for reestablishment of the institution.
Three firemen and as many policemen who aided in rescue work went to hospitals last night. Others were ill at their homes, among them Fire Battalion Chief Michael J. Graham.
Grave concern was felt for those who were reported injured last night and a search for 75 "missing" patients was started.
These persons, officials announced, had appointments for examinations at the clinic. Their names were given out in order that they may report themselves uninjured or undergo examination. Some of these might have left the building without notifying clinic officials or police, it was feared. If their lungs were filled with the gases there still was a possibility today that they might succumb.
State officials examining the x-ray film storage room in the basement where the fire burned the cellulose material and filled the building with gas, causing the explosions, laid the origin to spontaneous combustion. Escaping steam supplied the heat, they believed.
Staffer Rogers, plumber, told them of fighting the thick, brownish, cloud of gas alone as he attempted to repair a leak. He was blown through a door by the first explosion after emptying a fire extinguisher into the room.
Coroner A. J. Pearce announced that he had found no evidences of negligence.

PROBE GUN FIGHT NEAR LADYSMITH

Game Warden and Alleged Fur Smuggler Near Death in Hospital

Ladysmith—(AP)—A game warden and an alleged fur smuggler today were fighting for their lives in a hospital here while authorities sought to learn the details of a gun battle which the pair staged near here Thursday.
E. P. Johnson, the warden, was reported to have been shot through the back, the bullets penetrating into his abdomen. Emil Halsion, Finland, Minn., the game warden's opponent in the impromptu duel, was wounded by several shots and his condition was reported serious.
The game warden, it has been learned, had long suspected Halsion of running contraband furs and Thursday had found the latter's automobile stalled in a mudhole eight miles north of here. Halsion, authorities said, pulled out a revolver and shot Johnson when the latter tried to search the automobile. Johnson then returned the fire, wounding Halsion. A passing motorist, who found the two men lying beside the road took them to a hospital here.
Game Warden James W. McNaughton, Superior, and two assistants are in charge of the investigation.

Fond du Lac—(AP)—Some 200 delegates assembled here today for the opening of the annual convention of the Federal Music clubs of Wisconsin.
They were welcomed to the city by D. F. Blewett, city commissioner, and Miss Minnie de Sombre, president of the Fond du Lac Women's club. A response to their addresses was made by Mrs. H. L. Miller, Madison, president of the state federation.
Other events on today's program were concerts by Milwaukee and Fond du Lac musical organizations and an auto tour of the city. There will be no election of officers at the convention. These having been chosen last year for two-year terms.

Saved From Death After 50-Foot Fall Into River

Falling 50 feet from the lowest bridge at Kaukauna into the Fox river canal, little Florence Gussert, 7-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gussert, Kaukauna, was saved from drowning about 11:40 Friday morning by Elmer Ott, Kaukauna high school coach, and Officer James McFadden.
After the two men rescued the girl from the water she was revived by Officer Harold Engerson, who worked for 15 minutes before she regained consciousness.
The little girl, with a number of companions, was crossing from the south side of the river where they had attended a practice for graduation exercises to be held at the high school auditorium by the Holy Cross parochial school children.
When the girls reached the section of the bridge over the canal the tugboat George Van Ryan approached and the bridge tender started opening the draw. As the bridge began to open he noticed the group of girls at the north end and he stopped the bridge and left his cabin to warn them to come to the center of the bridge and stay there.
Just as he got outside the cabin the little Gussert girl, who was walking slightly ahead of her companions, turned to see how far behind they were. As she turned back she walked off the end of the bridge. Evidently when she struck the water she was stunned because she did not struggle.
Coach Ott, who was at the high school, ran across the Wisconsin-ave bridge and along the canal bank and Officer McFadden ran to the canal from the north side. They both reached the little girl about the same time after she had sunk once and then returned to the surface. They brought her to shore where Officer Engerson, employing artificial respiration, brought her back to consciousness.

Dry Law Put To Test In Booze Case

St. Paul—(AP)—Validity of the Volstead act is attacked in arguments prepared for presentation to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here today.
Conviction of Mrs. Marie Bevington of Sioux City, Iowa, on a charge of selling liquor, with previous conviction is the basis of the appeal.
She was arrested Aug. 10, 1928, and after conviction was fined $500 and sentenced to 30 days in jail.
Mrs. Bevington's attorneys contend that the Volstead statute is void because of a United States supreme court decision that portions of the old internal revenue law were automatically repealed by enactment of the prohibition enforcement law.
Later congress passed the Williams-Campbell law which re-enacted the parts of the revenue statute which had been held illegal. This, M. S. Bevington's counsel argues, would automatically repeal penalties of the Volstead law.
B. A. Brown, former assistant attorney general of South Dakota, Carlos W. Goltz, former Sioux City, and R. B. Schuyler of Sioux City, represent Mrs. Bevington. E. E. Rhinehart of Cedar Rapids, United States District attorney for Northern Iowa, is appearing for the government.

CHICAGO HOTELS MOVE TO STOP BOOZE FLOW

Chicago—(AP)—The merry tinkle of ice cubes being stirred with ginger ale or mineral water—and, perhaps, less legal liquids—no longer will be heard in guest rooms of the world's largest hotel, the Stevens.
The hotel management has decided, to forbid the serving of ice or left-ups in rooms. Ice water will still be obtainable—without the ice.
This drastic rule of the Stevens was preceded a few days by similar restrictions on service at other hotels. At the Morrison, the guest who has ginger ale, mineral water, or ice taken to his room is placed on his honor not to use them for making alcoholic drinks. He must sign a pledge card upon delivery of his order.
Other hotels, including the Drake, Blackstone and La Salle, have adopted similar, but less drastic, rules.
The hotels' actions followed a warning several days ago that the government would institute public proceedings against private clubs, hotels and similar institutions unless drinking were forbidden and stopped on their premises.
In addition to a definite speed limit, the bill provides for uniform traffic regulations throughout the state.
The upper house declined to approve a move to consolidate counties of the state, killing senator John C. Schuman's bill which would have permitted the citizens of Dodge and Jefferson counties to vote on the question of consolidation.
Senator J. H. Carroll's northern lakes state park bill, which two governors have vetoed, was given initial approval by the senate. The bill provides for purchase by the state of approximately 6,000 acres of land in Sawyer county on the Flambeau river. A maximum of $500,000 is to be paid for the land, and the money would be raised by a surtax on incomes over $2,000.

CANADIANS PONDER REQUEST FROM U. S.

Asked to Deny Customs Clearance to Vessels Carrying Booze to U. S.
Ottawa—(AP)—The request of the United States that the Canadian government deny customs clearance to vessels carrying consignments of liquor to the United States today was in a position to reach the floor of parliament.
The request, which the Canadian government has not seen fit to grant, was included in correspondence and the report of Canadian and United States officials on the anti-smuggling conference last January. The documents were tabled in both houses yesterday.
Parliament leaders said that the matter might reach open discussion when estimates of the department of national revenue were before the house. A demand for a statement on the government's policy in the matter would be in order.
The position of the United States as stated in the correspondence and reports is that refusal of clearance is the only effective means of cutting down the flow of liquor from Canada to the United States.
The strong probability that parliament would have an opportunity to discuss the question was seen in numerous petitions which have been filed, urging that clearance be denied to ships departing for the United States laden with liquor.
Permission for United States officers in Canada to transmit information regarding liquor shipments from Canadian ports was the counter offer of Canadian officers. This could be done under the existing anti-smuggling treaty while the denial of clearance for liquor shipments would require revision of the treaty.

AD MAN DENIES HE SAID INSULL MADE PAPER BID

Washington—(AP)—Charles J. O'Malley, a Boston advertising man, in testimony today before the Federal Trade commission denied he had mentioned the name of Samuel Insull, Illinois utilities magnate, or had been authorized to represent the Insull power interest in a reported $20,000,000 cash offer for the purchase of the Boston Post.
He added, however, he had proposed the buying of the Post and also the Boston Globe to officials of those newspapers on behalf of a New York stockbroker and a New York bond salesman.
At yesterday's hearing of the commission, Richard Grozier, editor and publisher of the Boston Post, and O'Malley had made a $20,000,000 offer for his newspaper on behalf of the Insull interests to C. E. "Carberry," managing editor of the Post.

APPROVE SPEED LIMIT OF 45 MILES AN HOUR

Madison—(AP)—A speed limit of 45 miles an hour for motorists in the open country was given preliminary approval today by the senate, which engrossed the uniform traffic code prepared by the state highway commission.

The upper house declined to approve a move to consolidate counties of the state, killing senator John C. Schuman's bill which would have permitted the citizens of Dodge and Jefferson counties to vote on the question of consolidation.

Sent to Jail

SCARFACE AL CAPONE

Gang Peace Pact Signed, Capone Says

Tells Director of Public Safety That He Wants to Quit Racket

Philadelphia—(AP)—Before he was sentenced to jail today for a year, "Scarface" Al Capone, of Chicago's underworld, told Director Schofield, of public safety, that he had just fixed up a "peace pact" between rival bootleg gangs of Chicago, ending the war which was resulted in wholesale killings by gunmen.
Capone made a lengthy statement to the director in the presence of a reporter, Superintendent William Connelley, Superintendent of the Public Safety, and a reporter. The interview took place between midnight and 2 o'clock. Director Schofield told of the talk after Capone had started for prison.
"I had one of the most interesting talks on the racket in the United States with Capone. Capone was in a reminiscent mood and seemed to be at the point where he was anxious to be at peace not only with his gangsters but with the more serious elements of life. In a quiet, gentlemanly manner, he told me that he was on an errand of peace when the Philadelphia cops grabbed him and put him in a cell."
ACTS LIKE GENTLEMAN
"This manner was a great contrast in the snarls of Cline, Capone's bodyguard, who when asked if he would make a statement snapped out 'get me a mouthpiece and I'll talk.'"
"Capone, as if resigned to his fate, waved his hand to his bodyguard and said: 'Listen boy, you are my friend, and have been a faithful guard, but I'll do the talking. We're in a bad jam here, and the only way out is to tell the truth and in return expect to be treated as leniently as possible under the law.'"
"I nodded by head and assured Capone that he would get a square deal, and without further questioning the king of racketeers told me that it was at his suggestion that the leaders of the Chicago gangsters were assembled at Atlantic City to discuss a peace pact."
"The story which Capone told me was this—"
TRIED TO GET OUT
"I went into the racket in this town four and a half years ago, dropping the last two years I've been trying to get out, but once in the racket you're always in it, it seems."
"The parasites feed you, beguile you and for money, and you can never get away from them, no matter where you go."
"I have a wife and an eleven-year boy I idolize, and a beautiful home at Palm Island, Fla. If I could go there and forget it all, I would be the happiest man in the world. I want you to tell me how to get out and live."
"I'm tired of gang murders and gang shootings. With the aid of a number of makers I've among the gangsters in Chicago. I spent the week in Atlantic City, and I have the word of each of the men participating that there shall be no more shootings."
"The director said that Capone had asked him to notify Mrs. Capone in Chicago. If he "got a bad break," Capone seemed to be worried also over the fact that he would be unable to go personally to Chicago and give the word to his followers regarding the signing of the peace pact."

RUSH FEDERALS TO REPEL MEXICAN GUERRILLA BAND

Agua Prieta, Sonora, Mexico—(AP)—A force of 200 hundred Mexican federal soldiers, garrikked here, were rushed southward last night in response to a report from El Tigre, Sonora, mining town, that "rebel forces" had sallied from the hills, attacked the town and killed several Mexican guards. Sixty other Mexican federal guards were reported captured. El Tigre is about 30 miles south of Agua Prieta.
A "rebel force" was believed here to be a remnant of the revolutionary army, which, recently routed by federalists, retreated to the mountains with the announced intention of continuing the warfare by guerrilla methods.
It was also learned that Rogelio Loreto, former mayor of this border town and a rebel leader who surrendered to the federalists upon collapse of the movement, was arrested upon orders from Mexico City. Local officials said Loreto would be taken to Hermosillo, capital of Sonora.

Capone Tells Sleuths He Had to Go Armed as He Is "Marked Man"

Philadelphia—(AP)—"Scarface" Al Capone and Frank Cline, Chicago gangsters, sentenced today to one year for carrying concealed deadly weapons, entered Moyamensing prison at 12:30 p. m. The sentence of the court was the maximum prison term of 44 months.
"This is some city; they work fast here," was Capone's comment after he was given a quick hearing and held in $5,000 bail for the grand jury. His comment after being sentenced to the county prison was not heard.
Capone and Cline were indicted and placed on trial a little more than twelve hours after they had been arrested.
The quick moves of District Attorney Monaghan, who has been intensively investigating racketeering in Philadelphia, almost took the defense lawyers off their feet. When the two prisoners were called before Judge Walsh, the work of enpanelling a jury was begun and completed in 44 minutes.
The prisoners were then given half an hour to confer with their counsel, Cornelius Jurgarty, Jr., and Bernard L. Lemisch.
When Capone and Cline were called upon to plead to the charges against them they stood mute. Under the law the court entered a plea of "not guilty."
The accusation against the men was based on the statement of Detectives John Creeden and James Malone that when they arrested the men outside a motion picture theatre last night they voluntarily turned over to them .38 calibre pistols which they had been carrying in shoulder holsters.
It was reported that while they were being examined by detectives early in the day, Capone said that he felt that he had to go armed because he was "marked for death" by enemies.
Armed detectives were stationed at various points in the room and in the corridors.
The decision to rush the indictment and trial of Capone came after he had been subjected by Lemuel E. Schofield, director of public safety, to two hours of questioning. Prior to this the men were photographed for the rogues' gallery.
Meantime Philadelphia police got in touch with Chicago authorities and were informed the police of the western city had "no record" against Capone.
Capone and his pal were questioned as to what they knew of racketeering in Philadelphia, which has been the subject of grand jury inquiry since last August.
The two men spent the night in separate cells in city hall, while

Angry Mob Attacks Jail And Lynches Florida Man

VICTIM IS SHOT, LEFT ON ROADSIDE

Grover's Wife Killed by Police Chief After Quarrel at Store

Lake City, Fla.—(AP)—N. G. Romey, a grocer, was taken from the jail here by a mob early today and lynched, two miles south of here where his body was found by a farmer. The man was arrested last night after an altercation with police during which Chief of Police John A. Baker was wounded and Mrs. Romey was wounded fatally.

Romey's body, containing many bullet wounds, was found sitting upright in a ditch.

Romey's trouble with the authorities started yesterday when Chief of Police Baker told him that he would have to clean up some rubbish in front of his store. Romey finally agreed to take some of his produce in boxes on the sidewalk inside his store.

Shortly after, according to Judge Guy Gillem, Romey telephoned Chief Baker and told him he had placed the produce back on the sidewalk and for the officer to "come back and try to make me move it again."

WIFE SHOT AT CHIEF
Baker returned to the store and another argument ensued. Mrs. Romey, who joined in the altercation, is alleged to have procured a pistol and fired three shots at Baker, one of which broke the officer's shoulder blade.

Chief Baker then opened fire on the woman, wounding her five times. She died in a hospital about midnight. Romey was arrested and placed in jail.

Judge Gillem said he did not know exactly when the lynching took place, but thought it was about 4 o'clock this morning. A farmer, found Romey's body.

A coroner's jury was summoned but the verdict was not made public.

The British girl's margin of victory was three up and one to play. The match ending when Miss Wethered won the thirty-fifth hole. The American girl started home with a fair of three, reducing her opponent's margin from four up to two up but she was not able to reduce it more during the final eight holes.

TARIFF HEARINGS MAY BE ENDED TOMORROW

Washington—(AP)—Supplemental hearings looking to the elimination of many of the differences between Republicans over the pending tariff bill were continuing by the Republican members of the ways and means committee today with the indication that they would be concluded tomorrow.

With conclusion of the hearings, Republican leaders expect much of the opposition to a special rule laying down the procedure for consideration of the measure for amendment will have been dissipated.

Among the requests for higher duties laid before the committee Republicans today was one by Representative Dickinson, Republican, Iowa, for a tariff of $3 a ton on crude pyroxene, which the pending measure retains on the free list.

Representative Douglas, Democrat, Arizona, recommended a duty of 7 cents a pound on long staple cotton of 1 1/2 inches and over and 3 cents a pound on staples between 1 1/2 and 1 3/4 inches. All raw cotton is retained on the free list in the bill.

FAVOR SLIGHT BOOST IN FREIGHT ON LIVESTOCK

Washington—(AP)—A revision of railroad freight rates on livestock in western territory which would involve some recommended slight increases was recommended today to the Interstate Commerce commission by agents who have completed an investigation into existing schedules.

C. E. Stiles and A. S. Parker, commission examiners, after a preliminary study, suggested a series of mileage scales in western territory to govern the making of new rates, and indicated the scales would increase railroad earnings. The commission assigned the report for oral argument here July 10.

"Livestock in much of the western district is not at present bearing its fair share of the transportation burden of its new scales," the report said. "Under the rate levels now recommended it will do no more than meet these minimum requirements. We believe the scales recommended will be fair both to shippers and carriers."

8 PREPARATION STAGES NEEDED FOR RADIO BILL

Germination of Idea for Program Is First Step in Procedure

New York—A radio program, to emerge from its cradle stage, and be presented to the public, goes through eight separate stages at least if it is to be an NBC feature. The first step is the germination of an idea for a program. This originates, in the majority of cases, in the planning board of the network. This idea goes through the third degree, is picked apart for flaws, reconstructed, and then is ready for the second stage.

This is the selection of suitable artists to present the program. Eligible entertainers are picked, and the third stage sees the best ones selected and instructed under direction of the production manager.

The program department takes care of the fourth step. It plans a definite musical sequence, arranges the balance and underlying psychology, and then sends the program to the continuity department for the fifth stage. Here the type of music to accompany the presentation is decided, what announcer is to work, what he is to say, how the artists are to be introduced and how the sponsorship can be best worked into the program.

The musical and literary research departments form the sixth stage. It is their duty to look over music and literary copyrights to see that nothing is going to get in the way of the program. It is the seventh stage. Size of the orchestra accompanying the program, the personnel, orchestration and other things are agreed upon and after this is settled the program is ready for the final stage—the rehearsals.

The minimum number of rehearsals at the NBC is three, the time of rehearsals averaging six hours for a one-half hour feature. The final dress rehearsal with its finishing and polishing sometimes takes from two to two and a half hours.

Then the minute of absolute silence before the mike, the program is swung over to the air and the work that has been going on for weeks at last shows fruit—if there is no hitch.

BUILDING OWNERS ALSO FACE DRY TRIAL

Milwaukee—(AP)—Assistant U. S. Dist. Atty. Gilbert Vander Cook late Thursday declared that owners of buildings who knowingly permit their structures to be used for the maintenance of a nuisance under the Volstead act from now on will face prosecution together with saloon operators and bartenders.

He made that statement after U. S. commissioner Harry L. Kellogg has dismissed charges against Harry Fennelly, who testified that he did not know his building, which federal prohibition agents raided last week, was being used as a "blind pig."

Police told of raiding the same place several weeks ago when they found 97 pints of gin. As they entered, they said, someone slipped out through the door.

Cecil Lemire, sought on a federal warrant in connection with the raid last week, was fined $300 in district court.

Roy McCafferty, arrested by the agents, was held for trial by Commissioner Kellogg. The commissioner ruled that there was insufficient evidence to hold Fennelly.

MANY PEOPLE SEEK COPIES OF DOG LAW

That Appleton people really are interested in the dog ordinance and aim to become acquainted with the features of the law imposing dogs is indicated by the recent demand for copies of the ordinance. A referendum on the ordinance will be held June 4. The demand for copies of the law is coming from persons who wish to become fully informed on the features of the law before voting.

ENGINEER INSPECTS POWER CANAL BRIDGE

City Engineer L. M. Schindler and other city officers Thursday inspected the Oneida bridge across the Fox River. Paper company power canal to determine what work should be started to strengthen the structure. Part of the bridge floor is in need of repairs and has been ripped up so that the supports may be inspected. Steel reinforcing and a cement floor probably will be put in where the flooring has been removed. The bridge still is open to traffic although only half the structure can be used.

NOBODY IS SURE OF DEMOCRATIC POLICIES TODAY

Party Leaders Are Divided Over Too Many Questions to Allow Accord

Washington—The general run of Republicans, who were feeling pretty well contented yesterday, must have chuckled with satisfaction over the word from New York that the views of Democratic senators as expressed in debate on the Senate floor would become the policies of the Democratic party.

There are several ways of causing the Democratic ticket to run behind the Communist ticket in 1932, but such a plan, if carried out literally, would probably be the most effective one.

Of course there is almost no chance at all that the Senate Democrats will be permitted to guide the party. The Democratic senators can no more be welded into a unit for such a function than anthracite can be rolled into window glass. The man who even partially succeeds with such a task will immediately become the party's next presidential candidate—and it may be worth observing that no Democratic senator has had better than an outside chance of nomination since before the Civil War.

REALLY A BIG OBSTACLE
The underlying reason, perhaps so seldom mentioned because it's so obvious, is that the great majority of members of Congress are more interested in holding their jobs than in national victory. In that respect, Democratic senators are no worse than anyone else. In fact, they probably show more courage and independence on the general run of their Republican colleagues because the graceful alacrity with which Republicans can turn about face and fit themselves into line in a presidential year is one of the most remarkable of all political phenomena.

Some issue may arise which can align them altogether at one time, but it is not in sight. There is a publicity man at the headquarters of the national committee here and what do you suppose he is doing? Visiting Republicans in the way of publicity, you may be sure, because he doesn't dare. He hasn't anyone to guide him. If he puts out a wad of propaganda pleasing to one Democratic faction another, Democratic faction is sure to land on his neck and demand his scalp. Now, if he is going to be told to spread the views of Democratic senators in debate as party policies, just imagine his plight!

Senator Tom Heflin of Alabama refuses to attack and defy the tactics for a few hours. Senator Dave Walsh of Massachusetts follows with a hot counter-attack and says it would do America's soul a lot of good if a Catholic were elected president.

Or try some other likelihood: Senators Wagner and Copeland of New York deliver long speeches against the Volstead act. Caraway of Arkansas and Barkley of Kentucky make equally long speeches insisting that any citizen who takes a drink is a traitor. Elsewhere South Carolina defends everybody's right to take a drink.

Wheeler of Montana and Dill of Washington demand recall of the marines from Nicaragua. Swanson of Virginia and Overman of North Carolina rebuke them.

Robinson of Arkansas delivers a spouting plea for party unity, emphasizing that the party must win New York state to elect a president. Simmons of North Carolina replies that Tammany is a blot on the earth's surface and that the party must forget New York and win with the south and the west.

DIVIDED ON TARIFF, TOO
Half a dozen Democrats whoop for the protective tariff and two or three others publicly mean that they should have lived to see the day when any Democrat would talk like that.

No one wants to kick the Democratic party while it's down, but whoever proposes to pass the buck by entrusting its future to the Senate is open to grave suspicion as a friend. Any page boy in either house of Congress could turn in better suggestions than that.

EMBEZZLES "PIN" FUND AND THEN HANGS SELF

Racine—(AP)—Members of the Douglas Avenue Bowling association gathered around tables for their annual banquet here last night. It was to be a festive occasion; food was plentiful; speeches were to be delivered and the best bowlers were to be awarded prizes for their high scores during the season.

Only Edward J. Amundsen, 46-year-old secretary and treasurer of the association, was missing. They waited for him and the prize money which totaled more than $600.

I rather think that a committee from the bowling association will come over to see me tonight," said Amundsen to his wife at their home shortly before 8 o'clock p. m., "but they won't meet me."

For some time the 46-year-old secretary-treasurer had been ill, forcing his retirement from his job. It took money to feed and clothe two boys and a girl.

A neighbor came to the Amundsen home and on the plea of Mrs. Amundsen went to the cellar.

The body of Amundsen was found hanging by a rope.

Politicians In Louisiana Are Busy Reforming Lines

Baton Rouge, La.—(AP)—As the impeachment trial of Gov. Huey P. Long passed into history, politicians today took inventory of the political aftermath.

The impeachment proceedings shot political factional lines away and it probably will take several weeks for political leaders to adjust their affairs.

The trial came to an abrupt end yesterday after 15 senators, sufficient to prevent conviction, declared their intentions to vote for acquittal.

COUNCIL MEDIATION OFFER TURNED DOWN

But Allen-A Strikers Name 5 Prominent Badgers as Arbitrators

Kenosha—(AP)—Feeling that "we cannot look upon the city council as an impartial body," the general strike committee has refused the offer of the Kenosha city council to act as arbitrators in the Allen-A labor dispute but has submitted the names of five prominent state citizens for an arbitration board. Maceo Kuency of the committee said today.

The city council, through its president, H. E. Barden, wrote to both the strike committee and the Allen-A-Hosley company this week, offering to act as arbitrators. The refusal of the offer was made in a letter to the council from the committee and was signed by Maceo M. Kuency, Eric Tillman and William Keil, members of a sub-committee.

The five men suggested for the arbitration board are: George Mead, paper manufacturer of Wisconsin Rapids; Solomon Levitan, state treasurer; Father Francis Haas, St. Francis seminary; Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the university of Wisconsin and State Senator Walter S. Goodland of Racine.

The men were characterized as having "a high standing in the state" and as men "who cannot be accused of undue friendship or undue hatred for organized labor or for the manufacturer."

CLIMATE HINDERS HEAVY DRINKERS IN PHILIPPINES

There's No Prohibition Law There, but Drinking Is Light

Manila, P. I.—The Philippine Islands are the one part of all of Uncle Sam's vast domain that is legal by wet.

Yet one sees fewer drunken people in Manila and other Philippine cities than in the continental United States itself. Here in Manila one will not encounter more than one in a fortnight.

The reason? Well, it isn't so mysterious—and it isn't anything that proves anything in particular, one way or the other, about the prohibition question itself. Here's the way the old residents of Manila explain it:

"Tropical climates just aren't the places for heavy drinking. People who have been here any length of time learn that you just can't do it. There is some drinking, of course, but not to excess. Even the natives can't do it. Americans and Europeans who come out here quickly learn that they are in a place where there is a prohibition law passed by Mother Nature."

Some American residents of Manila who have lived here for years say that the only drunken persons they have ever seen here are newly arrived soldiers from the army posts at Fort McKinley or Corregidor and sailors from the battleships. And these young men quickly learn that the flowing blood isn't a good thing in this hot climate.

The Philippines are the only American soil on the globe where prohibition is not in effect. Alaska, Porto Rico, Hawaii—all are legally dry. But not the Philippines. Why? Because the Philippines are legally possessions of the United States and not territories. Hence the Philippine legislature has the power to decide whether such a law as the 18th amendment should apply here.

The legislature decided that it shouldn't—and it doesn't. In other words, it would, under existing circumstances, be illegal for the American government to try to put prohibition into effect here.

There is a local W. C. T. U. in Manila, working for a dry law, but there is little public sentiment in its favor. Saloons are open just as they used to be in the United States and when you ask the average Filipino about prohibition he'll say something like this:

"Prohibition is American politics. We are not interested. It is not a problem here."

Fish License Bill To Be Reconsidered Next Week

Many New and Proposed Activities May Be Abandoned if Bill Fails

Madison—(AP)—Many of the new and proposed activities of the state conservation commission will remain at status quo until the resident dollar fish license bill is saved by the assembly through reconsideration and may be abandoned if the bill is finally defeated next Wednesday.

William A. Mauthe, Fond du Lac, chairman of the conservation commission, telephoned these orders to Matt Patterson, acting director of the department late Thursday.

Coincident with the departmental announcement came information that a delegation of Isaac Walton league members and others called on Governor Kohler late Thursday and asked his cooperation in urging members of the legislature to reconsider and pass the bill. It was killed by a margin of one vote when the assembly refused to concur with the senate, which had passed it.

Fish rearing ponds, contemplated or started; additional wardens already hired, rough fishing activity in Lake Winnebago and northern waters, the Door-co game farm and the Racine hatchery at Bohner's lake, are among the conservation activities that were ordered temporarily canceled.

The commission anticipated $250,000 from the resident fishing license to carry on most of these projects. The commission also may lose another $100,000 from deer licenses if the bill to abolish the open season on deer is approved by the senate. The assembly has passed it.

LITTLE CHUTE PAIR IS STILL MISSING

Unable to Find Bodies of Men Who Are Thought to Have Drowned

Except for several parties which are searching along the banks of the river below the Combined Locks dam, efforts to find the bodies of George Van Berkel and August Mollen, Little Chute men who are believed to have drowned in the Fox river last Sunday night, have been abandoned, according to Anton Jansen, village president.

Mill workers all along the river have been instructed to keep a close watch on the power dams as it is believed the bodies will be drawn against the flumes of the dams.

Van Berkel and Mollen were last seen about 7:15 last Sunday night when they were fishing in the tailrace below the Little Chute Pulp mill. Several days later parts of the boat were found at Kaukauna and the oars and fish poles also have been found.

Mr. Jansen expects to ask the United States War department to close off the water at Menasha Saturday night. This will enable the workers to drain the tail race where the men are thought to have drowned and if the bodies are being held by a snag or deadhead at the bottom of the river, it is expected they will be found.

DRAMATIC SEASON AT COLLEGE HITS CLIMAX THURSDAY

Annual All-college Play,
"Mr. Pim Passes By," Presented at Chapel

The dramatic season at Lawrence college reached its climax when the annual all-college play, "Mr. Pim Passes By," a three-act comedy by A. A. Milne, was presented at Lawrence Memorial chapel Thursday night. The play, directed by Miss Lucille Welty, instructor in public speaking, was presented by the department of public speaking at the college.

The action of the play centered around the visit of the absent-minded Mr. Pim to the Marden House in Buckinghamshire and the complications which resulted when he mentioned the name of the former husband of the lady of the house, Olivia. The character role of Mr. Pim, a very forgetful old gentleman, who in his own words was "here today and gone tomorrow," was exceptionally well played by Diehl Snyder, Baraboo. Mr. Snyder has had previous dramatic experience and at Lawrence played in the "Goose Hangs High," the "Charm School," and the "Romantic Age," also written by A. A. Milne.

The part of George Marden, J. P., an eccentric, middle-aged man who believed that what was good for his great-grandfather is good enough for him, was ably taken by William McLaughlin, Shawano. His ideas on everything modern and early marriages are finally changed by Olivia, his wife, played by Bernita Danielson, Stevens Point.

HAS FRIVOLOUS PART
The modern, frivolous part of the play was brought out in the love affair of Dinah, a spontaneous character and ward of George Marden, and Brian Strange, a young artist given over quite often to rhetorical speeches. The role of Dinah was played by Magdalen Bohr, Clintonville, and that of Brian Strange by Herbert Ungrodt, Washburn. Both parts were well cast as was that of Lady Marden, whose chief interest lay in what the "county" thought about things, played by Helen Tompkins, Duluth, Minn., and the part of the maid, taken by Nellie Chamberlain, Green Bay.

The production staff was headed by Professor A. L. Franke, professor of public speaking at Lawrence, with Arthur Mueller acting as student business manager. Anna Marie Perschbacher was in charge of publicity and Robert Valentine was stage manager with Franklin LeFevre and Walter Piper as assistants. Marian Russel acted as property chairman assisted by Margaret Mason, Helen Kneebone, and Marion Jaeger and Evalyn Logan was in charge of the wardrobe.

The presentation of this play marks the close of the dramatic season at Lawrence. Three full length plays were produced this year, The Poor Nut, by J. C. and Elliot Nugent, a college comedy; Children of the Moon, by Martin Flavin, a tragedy and Richelieu, by Sir Edward Bulwer-Lytton, a historic drama.

SHERIFF DECLARES WAR ON OPERATORS OF SLOT MACHINES

Taking cognizance of a series of complaints, Sheriff Fred W. Giese Friday issued orders to his deputies to arrest every roadhouse or soft drink parlor proprietor in the county in whose places slot machines are found.

The sheriff said that his recently declared war on "traveling bootleggers" who infest dance halls and roadhouses of the county would be widened to include a war on slot machines also.

"Shortly after I took office we conducted a series of raids and the county was rid of slot machines for a period," the sheriff said. "I intend to see that the law forbidding slot machines is enforced."

In announcing his war on dance hall bootleggers the sheriff pointed out that he would send out bands of deputies every night to visit the places where the men who are violating the laws, are to be found. These deputies also will be instructed to look for slot machines.

CAPONE SENT TO JAIL FOR YEAR'S TERM

Is Convicted With His Body Guard of Carrying Concealed Weapons

their attorneys laid plans to have the bail reduced and to have them released. It was virtually a race between the police and the lawyers, with the police winning the first lap.

A short time before their indictment, Capone and Cline were taken to the film room of the detective bureau and "stood up" and questioned regarding their records by Acting Captain Andrew Emanuel in the presence of the whole detective squad.

They were placed on the raised platform around which there is a heavy copper screen through which it is possible for detectives to see the prisoners while the latter cannot see the detectives. Above the prisoners is a flood light.

After Capone had been placed in several positions for observation, Captain Emanuel asked him his name.

"Alphonse Capone, 2744 Prairie, Chicago," was the response.

"You are charged with being a suspicious character and with carrying concealed deadly weapons," said Emanuel. "What have you to say?"

"Oh, nothing, nothing," and Capone laughed.

"Were you ever arrested before?"

"Once, before."

"For what?"

"For carrying concealed deadly weapons in Joliet, Ill."

"Do any time?"

"No."

After looking over his records, Captain Emanuel asked "were you not arrested in New York?"

"Yes, 18 years ago—pardon me, I'm a little twisted. I guess I'm not fully awake."

He was arrested in New York about three or four years ago. I was picked up there on suspicion of murder, but I was discharged."

"You were discharged?"

"Yes, I was discharged."

"You've never done any time, anywhere?"

"No, not a minute."

Emanuel then directed the detectives to take careful note of Capone's appearance. "His absence from this city is a thing to be desired," the detective chief said.

Cline was then questioned. He said he lived at 1024 S. Morgan-st., Chicago. He has been under police observation in that city since 1915, when under the name of Frank Rice, he was arrested for larceny of bonds, he said.

Capone and Cline arrived here yesterday from Atlantic City. They offered no resistance when they were taken into custody. The former greeted one of the detectives, with whom he is acquainted, with "Hello, Shoney," adding unexpectedly, "Yes, I've got a gun."

Capone and his companion then turned over to the detective two .38 calibre revolvers both loaded.

Searches at city hall, Capone yielded an 11-carat diamond said to be worth $25,000. Both he and Cline had large sums of money. They told the authorities they were on their way to Chicago from a short visit at Atlantic City.

Addressing Capone, Magistrate Carney said:

"Authorities in some cities, including district attorneys, are afraid of you. But Philadelphia is not afraid of you, Mr. Al Capone, and I am not afraid of you!"

"I don't know your companion, but I take it he is quite in your class. I order you both held in $35,000 bail for court. My only regret is that you are not before me on charges which would justify me riding the United States of you both forever!"

DIFFERENT IN CHICAGO

Chicago—(P)—When Philadelphia police got Al Capone last night, or gun toting locked him in jail over night and "mugged" him for the rogues' gallery, they did something which in Capone's home town of Chicago would be a rare thing indeed.

Despite the fact that hardly a gang slaying occurs here without Capone's name being mentioned, Capone has yet to look out from behind Chicago cell bars over night.

Detective headquarters here said to day that in the years Capone has been a leading gangland figure in Chicago he never has been booked for a crime or photographed or fingerprinted.

Simultaneous with news of Capone's arrest in Philadelphia where detectives took him in custody, it was learned that the "big shot" of Chicago gangland is having a summer lodge constructed in the Northern Wisconsin woods.

A phone, who gained a fortune and much notoriety by controlling west side Chicago for the past two winters to escape the rigors of winter and has basked in Florida sunshine from October until April. Now, it is learned he intends to spend his summers near Couderay, Wis., on Cranberry Lake.

BUY LAKE LAND

Capone's agents have spent several months buying and clearing land until his 600 acres now include nearly all the lakefront. It is but a stone's throw—or a boat's flight—from the estate and hiding place of Joe Salts, another of Chicago's leading gang chiefs and liquor dealer.

A squad of Capone's "boys," said today's Herald and Examiner, now are on the site building an elaborate lodge for their chief and smaller cottages for the many guests he may wish to entertain.

The Wisconsin spot is said to be ideal for the gang leader, being surrounded on all sides by dense woods and with roads leading in all directions in case sudden flight is necessary.

Bernard L. Lemisch appeared as attorney for Capone and Cline. When

LENROOT OFFICE AGAIN CONSIDERED

If Democrats Are Solid Against Him He Has Little Chance for Job

Washington—(P)—The nomination of Irvine Lenroot, former Republican senator from Wisconsin, to be a member of the court of customs appraisals was again before the senate today with leaders hopeful of obtaining a decision before adjournment.

By a vote of 38 to 34 yesterday, the senate rejected the motion of Senator Black, Democrat, Alabama, to open the doors for consideration of the nomination. A motion was pending today to make public the roll call on that vote.

Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, with the support of most of the Republican independent group, has been fighting the Lenroot nomination. Leaders conceded that should the Democrats line up solidly against the former senator, his confirmation would be in doubt, but that contingency was not expected.

In a long speech yesterday, Norris assailed Lenroot on his record as chairman of the senate lands committee and his service as an attorney in Washington since he retired from the senate two years ago. The Nebraska senator complained that while chairman lands committee during the early days of the investigation into the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve lease, Lenroot called on Albert Fall, former secretary of the interior and the man under inquiry by the committee.

At a hearing before the judiciary committee, Lenroot declared he had called on his former colleague, Fall, merely to arrange for his appearance before the committee.

Norris also objected to Lenroot appearing as attorney before the Senate Interstate Commerce committee in opposition to the resolution of Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, for an inquiry of the power companies.

JOHN HAUG DIES FRIDAY MORNING

Funeral Services Will Be Held at 8:30 Monday Morning

John Haug, Sr., 218 E. Lincoln st., died early Friday morning. Survivors are the widow, one daughter, Rose; one son, John, Jr.; two brothers-in-law; and four grandchildren. The body will be taken from the Schommer funeral home to the residence Saturday afternoon. Funeral services will be at 8:30 from the residence and at 9 o'clock from Sacred Heart church Monday morning. Mr. Haug was a resident of Appleton for 45 years and for the past nine years was in the coal and wood business. He was a member of the Elks lodge.

His insistent demands for lower bail and abrupt refusal, Lemisch asked Magistrate Carney, "What have you got on Capone?"

CHICAGO PLEASED

Chicago—(P)—There was rejoicing in certain law enforcing quarters today at the tidings that Alphonse Capone, gangster of Chicago and Miami had been given a year in a Philadelphia jail for carrying concealed weapons.

"Glad to hear it!" exclaimed State's attorney John A. Swanson. "It's a good job."

Daniel Anderson, assistant United States district attorney, uttered a hearty laugh.

"They hung it on him in a hurry!" he observed.

The state's attorney said he had no charges pending against Capone, and so far as police blotters are concerned the gang leader's record is pure and undefiled, despite the regular recurrence on his name in the newspaper prints each time a gangster falls by the wayside.

The federal government however, has pending against Capone a charge that he falsified an affidavit in which he had given ill health as a reason for delaying his return from Miami several weeks ago to answer a federal grand jury subpoena.

Hearing he was released under $50,000 bond for appearance to answer a contempt charge, the hearing of which has not been set.

Broken Motors Slow Up Return of Dirigible Toward Home Hangar of the dirigible to 30 kilometers (about 31 miles) an hour. Messages from Alexander von Zepplin, aboard the Zeppelin, said the passengers, including Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York, only woman passenger, were calm.

The dirigible appeared over Nimes, west of Marseilles, at 9:30 a. m. (2:30 a. m., Appleton time), struggling hard against the wind. Twenty minutes later it appeared almost immovable over Bellegarde. At 9:50 a. m., it appeared again to be progressing, to the northeast at a height of about 2,500 feet.

GRUB LOSS UNEXPLAINED

Loss of the third motor was unexplained, a message from Van Kryha to the Associated Press merely stating it had taken place. Herr von Kryha ascribed most of the loss of speed, however, to the violent wind. He said Dr. Eckener did not expect to reach Friedrichshafen until night-fall.

There was some fear in some quarters for the ship and its passengers but the Zeppelin company expressed confidence that the air liner would ride the storm safely. It was "emphatically" denied that an emergency landing in France was contemplated.

The Zeppelin reached the French coast at 7 o'clock a. m., at Saintes Maries de la Mer, after it had sent a radiogram to the French government requesting permission to re-cross France on its way home. The permission was granted immediately.

Le Bourget, France.—(P)—Battling strong northwest winds and with three of its five motors dead, the transatlantic dirigible Graf Zeppelin was slowly struggling up the Rhone valley today in an effort to reach her home port, Friedrichshafen, Germany.

The huge ship, which had set out on her second voyage to the United States and had covered approximately 1,000 miles in excellent time, had been in the air more than 33 hours at 8 o'clock this morning eastern standard time.

As she slowly fought her way through headwinds some times almost standing still and at best making no more than 25 miles an hour, French aviation authorities here made no attempt to hide anxiety over the situation. One French dirigible expert said that with the head wind and her loss of power the airship might easily become unmanageable.

There was one report that Dr. Eckener, commander of the great airship, had determined finally to make a landing in France, possibly at the Bron aviation field at Lyons. But this was immediately denied at Friedrichshafen.

TROUBLE DEVELOPS

The Graf Zeppelin, which turned back yesterday when near the Balearic islands in the Mediterranean because of trouble with two engines, fought its way across the mouth of the Rhone at 8 o'clock this morning (1 o'clock a. m., Appleton time), and then headed in a northerly direction.

She was merely crawling as she was sighted at Nimes. The ship appeared above the city at 9:20 a. m., struggling hard and 20 minutes later was almost immovable over Bellegarde.

At 9:50, she appeared to be progressing on a tack to the northeast, flying at a height of about 2,500 feet. Unable to breast the full force of the wind, she continued to tack and began to make a speed of about 10 miles an hour. She was visible in the district for nearly an hour and a half before she disappeared in the direction of Montclair, midway to Lyons.

News from the Graf Zeppelin received at Marseilles indicated that Dr. Eckener counted on keeping to the Rhone valley on his return to Friedrichshafen. Conditions in the valley, however, were strongly unfavorable, according to the French meteorological service, which reported that a 45-mile headwind was sweeping almost the entire length of the valley.

SILENT ABOUT MOTORS

Until the Graf Zeppelin is back in her hangar from the ill-fated voyage, the Maybach motor works, which built her engines, refuse to make any statement as to the nature of the defect.

"Certainly a most unusual condition must prevail to make it necessary to turn back," Assistant Director Lutz said.

"That the present defect could be the result of sabotage, was regarded as impossible here, since only workmen of many years standing had been in the charge."

Gloom hung heavy over the Zeppelin works and the Maybach works today and it was believed that the Graf Zeppelin might not start again for some time, if at all.

In any case, its return is considered a terrible blow to Zeppelin prestige. The only comfort for the constructors of the big airship lies in the fact that the accident has shown that a dirigible can navigate even when crippled while an airplane with defective motors would have dropped into the ocean or been dashed to the ground.

TOO MUCH STRAIN?

One theory advanced to explain the accident was that in an effort to make a record journey to the United States this time, the engineer had overstrained the motors. It is pointed out that the Graf Zeppelin has already traveled about 50,000 kilometers since she was built.

Engineers at Friedrichshafen recalled that the dirigible had trouble during her last Mediterranean flight. Two motors balked, one while the Zeppelin was on her way from Lisbon to Seville. A transmission shaft then proved defective, the airship's

LEGIONAIRES TO MEET AT SHAWANO

Commander Hoehele to Attend Eighth District Conference Saturday

The spring conference of eighth district American legion officers will be held at Shawano Sunday, with several officers of the state department as principal speakers. Among them are Commander R. F. Hoehele, superior, A. A. Peterson, state adjutant, James Burns, service officer, Fred Smith, De Pere, regional commander, Marshall, C. Grant, commander of the Ninth district, and F. Ryan Duffy.

The first conference sessions will begin at 9:30 Sunday morning at Community hall. With completion of the business meetings, scene trips through the Menominee reservation and along the Wolf river have been arranged. The conference banquet will be held at 6:30 Sunday evening.

propeller was removed 3500 feet in the air and a new shaft mounted. Somewhat later on the same trip, cylinder trouble developed. This also was repaired in mid-air.

Valence, France.—(P)—After flying to the outskirts of the city the Zeppelin was brought to a standstill by the violence of the wind, which was blowing eastward. At 4:15 p. m. (9:15 a. m., Appleton time) it was over the little community of Crest, about 15 miles southeast of here.

Her motors appeared for a moment to have stopped entirely. Then she got under way again and seemed to be heading for the town of Saillans in the valley of the River Drome, a little further southeast of the village of Crest.

Her situation, after heading toward the valley of the Drome, appeared to be very grave. There are no air fields in the region in which she was moving and the country is savage and mountainous.

Saillans is a town of 1,500 inhabitants affording no facilities for landing other than open fields. There is no military field anywhere near about, and further east are only the rising peaks of the Alps and their foothills.

Ludwig Duer, constructor of the Zeppelin, told the Associated Press at noon that it would take several days before the defect in the motors could be authoritative. He said both he and the Maybach experts were mystified. So were the engineers aboard the Graf Zeppelin.

HAS DIFFERENT VIEW

Duer differs from those who believe that the accident was due to overstraining the engines.

"When machines have successfully negotiated ten million revolutions we generally assume that the element of fatigue has been eliminated," Duer said.

He declared that no decision had yet been taken as to whether the passengers and guests would be invited to remain at Friedrichshafen until the engines had been examined, or whether the voyage would be given up for the time being.

"Naturally, we will not simply replace the defective part with a new part, but will examine carefully whether the trouble is of a constructional nature or from defective material."

First word of the failure of the Graf Zeppelin's transatlantic venture came yesterday after the ship was reported sighted over the Mediterranean sea near the Balearic islands, after it had traveled possibly 80 miles on its way to Lakehurst, N. Y.

Wireless messages from the dirigible said that Dr. Hugo Eckener, the dirigible's master, at 6:35 p. m. (12:35 a. m., Appleton standard time) after consulting his officers and the passengers, telling them of trouble which had developed in two of the engines, decided to break his journey and return to Friedrichshafen. Dr. Eckener reported that his position was about 20 nautical miles southeast of Cape de la Nao, southern coast of Spain, about 850 miles as he had traveled from Friedrichshafen.

Dr. L. J. Holmberg, Canby, Minn., was a guest at the home of his sister, Mrs. M. V. Holmberg, 592 N. Durkeet street, Thursday.

An air service along the west coast of South America is planned.

Survivors are parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lillge; two brothers, Karl and Walter, Jr.; grandmother, Mrs. Augusta Lillge, Milwaukee. WIFE CANNOT WAIVE RIGHTS OF HUSBAND

Milwaukee—(P)—A wife cannot waive the constitutional rights of her husband by admitting to agents of his home Judge F. A. Geiger of the federal court ruled today in granting a motion to suppress the evidence against Edward Nakowski, charged with violation of the liquor laws.

The charge was then dismissed but his wife, Josephine, pleaded guilty and was fined $300. Testimony in the case showed that Mrs. Nakowski admitted the drug agents to her home while her husband lay asleep. The agents found a still in the house and subsequently arrested both Mr. and Mrs. Nakowski.

LIKE PAPER CLOTHES

Germans are taking much interest in the new paper clothing which is being introduced by a German manufacturer. He claims that it is waterproof, yet can be washed, affords ample circulation of air, does not crease, can be restored to its proper shape by shaking, and weighs about one-third that of ordinary material. Many such suits will be worn during the coming summer.

ENGLISH PASS WAIST WATCH

Waist watches, which are threatening to oust wrist watches in popularity in Europe, face a cold reception in England. The new style of timepiece is worn as part of the buckle of a belt, and as Englishmen seldom, if ever, wear belts, they will have no use for the watches, experts declare. English women, in spite of their interest in sports, wear belts only when fashion demands.

LAUDER SONG WRITER DIES

Alexander Melville, who wrote songs, Sir Harry Lauder and many other Scotch comedians, died recently in a Glasgow hospital. Although paid well for his songs, his generosity soon got him into debt, and in his last years he frequented common lodging houses and lived on the charity of a few friends. "Killiecrankie," "Risin' Early in the Mornin'," and "Tobermory" were among the songs he wrote for Lauder.

RAIL BODY READY FOR STATE PROBE

Denies Charges of Inefficiency Made by Resolution in Assembly

Madison—(P)—Denying charges of inefficiency, the Wisconsin Railroad commission today was ready for any investigation which may bear out the accusations made in the Leemis-Carow assembly resolution.

The Loomis-Carow resolution, which asserts "there is a widespread belief and opinion that the railroad commission is not functioning efficiently in the public interest," directs the appointment of a special committee to investigate the railroad and tax commission and the regulation and taxation of public utilities, light, heat and power and telephones. The resolution was heard by the assembly judiciary committee Thursday.

Adolph Kanneberg of the railroad commission, answered the resolution with an invitation for a searching investigation. He answered the resolution on all points and denied "that the public is generally complaining of high rates."

Assemblyman O. S. Loomis of Mauston co-sponsor of the resolution, exercised all powers which it possesses in attempting to block the defense of the commission in the hands of William J. Hagenan, vice president of the Byllesby Engineering and Management corporation, Wednesday night and that the defense was not presented to the legislature until the following day.

The railroad commission's answer to the charges made in the Loomis-Carow resolution includes the following views:

"The commission has vigorously exercised all powers which it possesses in attempting to control the telephone consolidation movement and in

HEAVY LOSSES TO SHIPPING IN LAKE GALE

Two Men Washed Overboard and Drowned—
Two Freighters Wrecked

Calumet, Mich.—(P)—Belated reports brought to Lake Superior ports on the Michigan shore today described the wreck of two freighters and the terrific battle lake craft fought against wind and heavy seas during a storm Wednesday night and Thursday.

Two men were washed overboard and drowned, several freighters managed to make port after being battered by the waves and the freighter Ralph Budd and J. E. Gorman were driven on rocky reefs. Today the storm had subsided but heavy dead swells were running. Loss to shipping was estimated at more than a million.

The Ralph Budd, commanded by Capt. Dougan McLeod of Buffalo, went aground near Keweenaw point Wednesday night and its crew of 31 was taken off by Eagle Harbor coast guards after clinging to the ship throughout the night. After being abandoned, the ship was slowly being pounded to pieces on the jagged rocks of the point.

The steamer J. E. Gorman was reported pounding on a reef off out-ran, west of Munising. Both the Gorman and the Ralph Budd are owned by the Great Lakes Transit corporation. The J. E. Gorman carried a crew of 30 men and was captained by W. Holm.

Capt. John McNeill of the William B. Davock, a Pittsburgh Steamship company boat, today reported that Jerome Jacklin, wheelman, and Lars Johnson, watchman, were washed overboard by a huge wave Thursday. The Davock, downbound with iron ore, reached the Soo early today after a hard fight with the storm.

RALPH BUDD ON REEF

The Ralph Budd was the hardest hit of all the vessels. Her upper parts were torn away and the deck cargo was strewn along the beach for several miles. All windows on her weather side were blown in and the roof on the after cabin stove in. Last reports said the ship was wrecked on a reef with her hold full of water and listing at 45 degrees.

Its $500,000 cargo of merchandise and grain is a total loss, ship officers declared. Unless the craft is floated immediately, the hull would break up under the battering of an on-shore wind, it was said. The crew with the exception of First Mate Robert Koch and a lookout today Calumet for their homes. Capt. McLeod also remained to await the arrival of underwriters' representatives.

First Mate Koch reported the wind attained a velocity of 70 miles subjecting the ship to a terrific pitching throughout Wednesday night and Thursday.

"The storm struck shortly after we left Duluth at midnight Tuesday," said Koch. "A violent thunderstorm accompanied the wind which at its height reached 70 miles. Members of the crew were tossed about in their cabins by the heavy seas, some of them injured. The weather thickened and developed into a blizzard which cut off all vision. Blown 10 miles off our course, we came hard aground on the reef at 10:30 p. m. The steam whistle was blown until it blew itself out and then we burned flares, but to no avail.

WERE NEAR DEATH

"Through the night the ship tossed and rocked with all hands expecting to be dashed overboard at any moment. It would have been difficult to launch a lifeboat. At daybreak, however, a lull in the gale gave us a chance to get away with six men and I left them ashore while I walked four miles through swamps and ravines to the coast guard station."

The S. H. Robbins upbound with a deckload of automobiles, reached the Soo today with reports of a heavy storm on Lake Huron Thursday. Five of the autos were washed overboard and 18 were smashed against the rails. The Robbins fought heavy seas to aid the C. E. Redfern, a small ship which was waterlogged with fires out, on upper Lake Huron, the captain said. The Redfern was towed into port by a Tree Line steamer.

Was Unable To Work 4 Months

Sargon treatment.

"For over three months I wasn't able to put on my coat or hat without help on account of the rheumatic pains in my arms and shoulders. I was constipated and bilious, my skin was yellow, and I had to take the strongest kind of laxatives every day, and sometimes, twice a day. There never was a day that I didn't suffer with headaches, and I was so dizzy at times I had to hold on to something to get about. I didn't have any strength left, and I thought I never was going to be well again. I tried all kinds of medicines and treatments, but if they ever did me any good I don't know anything about it. Then, I started the Sargon treatment, and one bottle did me more good than all the other medicines put together. I have taken five bottles now, and I feel like a new man. I eat big meals every day, my food tastes fine, I sleep like a log at night, and there is not a rheumatic ache or pain left in my body."

"I wouldn't have believed that any medicine on earth could have done for anybody as much as Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills did for me, and I want everybody who suffers to know about it."

The above statement was recently made by Henry L. Schultz, well known contractor and property owner, of 621 60th St., Milwaukee. Sargon may be obtained in Appleton from Voigt's Drug Store and in Kaukauna from H. G. Brauer.

DEBT ACTION MAY BE LEFT TO MINISTERS

Both Sides May Present Demands and Adjourn Without Decision

Paris—(P)—The reparations experts of the creditor nations today were studying the proposed text of the committee's report with the German conditions preparatory to a full discussion among themselves later in the day.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, head of the German delegation, remained at his hotel pending an agreement between the allies and the American representatives, but one of the German experts called at the headquarters of the committee just after noon with a response to inquiries as to the meaning of some of the phases in the German conditions.

The principal opposition to the annuities suggested by Owen O. Young, is now coming from the Belgians and Italians but all the creditors found what they held to be objectionable features in the German conditions.

THE ENFORCEMENT REPEAL BILL

The senate having passed the bill repealing the Severson enforcement act, the question whether it is to become operative or not is now up to Gov. Kohler. Perhaps he has made his decision already, and of course he has received advice and appeals favoring both signature and veto. Much more is, of course, involved than the mere pleasing of the wets or dries. Questions of principle are raised that are of more importance than public opinion. Probably the most important is the relation of both legislative and executive action to the president's New York appeal to the country at large for cooperation in law enforcement.

We have not changed our opinion that the adoption of the referendum favoring repeal of the enforcement law and attempting to legalize the manufacture of 2.75 per cent beer was a futile and lamentable step to take, but the water is over that dam and the mischief has been done. It does not now matter so far as Wisconsin is concerned that the better and logical way to bring about a right amelioration of prohibition evils and of prohibition itself is through the constitutional method of amending or repealing the eighteenth amendment, and that what has been done constitutes no advance in that direction. We are accustomed in this country to uphold the principle that the people shall rule—that we must accept and be bound by their good as well as their bad judgment, by their errors as well as by their constructive acts. What they do or command is to be respected so long as it is lawful and constitutional. Nor is it relevant to the subject of this editorial that a minority opposed to prohibition refuses to be bound by the popular will, the principle is nevertheless valid. It must be valid else the democratic government is self-destructive.

While we think it is a mistake to repeal the Severson act, leaving Wisconsin at the mercy of illicit booze interests of every sort and withdrawing our cooperation from the federal government in the matter of law enforcement, it is nevertheless a constitutional procedure. The people are acting within their rights and their powers, both with respect to the referendum and the legislative repeal. The situation is emphasized by the fact of the referendum. If the legislature had acted on its own initiative the governor would be quite justified in vetoing its act. It would be a question of his judgment against that of the legislature. He would be exercising his rights and in fact his obligation, and we are inclined to think he would have vetoed such a repeal bill.

However, the people having voted squarely on the issue and for repeal by an overwhelming majority it becomes, it seems to us, a sovereign mandate to the governor as well as to the legislature. It is hardly any longer his responsibility to decide the soundness or the wisdom of the popular action. Rather it is his duty to submit to it and respect it.

The president's appeal for universal aid in law enforcement is persuasive, logical and moral. Nevertheless, it is involved in some inconsistencies, one of which is the federal government's failure or refusal to keep its own house in order and enforce in good faith and to the letter the eighteenth amendment, along with other laws, in Washington and the District of Columbia. The president is undoubtedly right in his contention that the best way to get rid of an objectionable law is to enforce it, but here again the proposition is involved in practical difficulties of enforcing a law that is held in widespread disrespect and contempt.

Gov. Kohler can find plenty of ethical and moral justification for vetoing the measure repealing the Severson act. But we believe that if we were in his place we would sign it purely on the theory that it is the people's will, the responsibility for which is theirs and the legislature's and not his.

THE TARIFF BILL

We think it will be found when the new tariff bill is fairly analyzed that it will impose more burdens on agriculture than benefits. The prices of raw materials and farm produce which the United States exports are not likely to be increased by higher duties. The tariff will help up to a certain point in protecting domestic produce with an exportable surplus, but beyond the point of excluding appreciable quantities of like products the tariff can do nothing so long as we produce more of them than we consume. In the main the chief benefit to the farming industry from protection has been the development of manufacturing with an attendant increase in domestic consumption rather than in direct assistance. Unless the farmers are careful they will find in the present proposed revision that they are being taxed more than they are being paid in higher prices.

Some of the duties are a sheer subsidy to protected interests without any possible benefits to the farmer. Take, for instance, the proposed duty on sugar of 3 cents per pound or of 2.40 cents on the Cuban product under our reciprocity agreement with Cuba. This is an increase of 36 per cent over the present rate, which the tariff commission only five years ago found after extensive investigation to be more than adequate to equalize costs of producing both the domestic and the foreign product. It is estimated that the increased duty will impose a new tax of at least $100,000,000 a year on the American people, and of this the farmers will pay their full share. All of this is for the benefit of an industry said to employ about 120,000 adult Americans. There are some besides these it is supposed to protect, namely labor imported from Mexico because of its cheapness.

There is a degree of taxation to keep alive the struggling beet sugar industry beyond which it becomes excessive. It is our opinion it will be more than passed by the proposed increased duty on sugar. We have had some forty years experimentation with beet sugar and it remains a decidedly infant industry. Furthermore, a very high price for sugar will be likely to stimulate production in our insular possessions whose climate and soil are more adapted to plant cultivation than are our own, and since that sugar would necessarily be admitted free of duty the home industry would be no further ahead.

We are unable to reconcile the tariff bill reported by the ways and means committee with the tariff views outlined by Mr. Hoover in his message to congress. The two do not seem to go together. Politics can doubtless do much to harmonize them, but Mr. Hoover is still an unknown quantity in this respect.

WOMAN KEEPS THE BOB

For a great many years one of mankind's favorite jokes has been the fondness of woman for changing styles. However, it is beginning to look as if this joke might be a wee bit overdrawn. When women find a style that really suits them they are quite capable of hanging on to it with a great deal of tenacity.

For the last three or four years the spokesmen for the hairdressers have raised their voices, every now and then, to announce that the bob was doomed. Long hair, they kept saying, was about to return. Soon the bobbed-haired maiden would be as rare as in pre-war days.

And what has happened? Nothing whatever. The bob is precisely as popular as it was four years ago. Women have discovered that it is both comfortable and becoming, and all the shouts of the hairdressers have not moved them. The old quip about woman's changeableness may need revising.

Industrial hospitals in the United States number 169, with a capacity of 7,250 beds.

Children's hospitals have decreased from 81 in 1925 to 65 in 1928.

A total of 39,203 physicians in this country have hospital connections.

It is estimated that 5 per cent of men are color-blind.

The minimum age for marriage in England is twelve for girls and fourteen for boys.

The average size of hospitals has increased from a bed capacity of 97 in 1899 to 125 in 1928.

Of the babies born in the United States during 1928, 733,321 of them were born in one or another of the 6,552 hospitals.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK
New York—Moving into new homes is had enough when it's voluntary and premeditated, but when 1,700 families are requested to leave one neighborhood in two months—what! It's a job for the chamber of commerce.

That is the situation in Houston and Essex streets on the east side. A new cross-town subway branch is about to be burrowed under those narrow, teeming thoroughfares and the people who live there have to move out before they are shaken out by the blasts of tunneling dynamite.

The East Side chamber of commerce, therefore, is leading the exodus by finding homes for Abramowitchs, Gambonis and Murphys and their erstwhile neighbors. It is no easy job, either, finding suitably cheap apartments for people who have been paying from $6 to $15 a month per room.

And the east side is such a crowded community that there's hardly room in any block for the proverbial one more.

Guys about two of the 1,700 families, therefore, will be able to stay in the old neighborhood, Brooklyn and The Bronx are getting the remainder.

MIGRATION BENEFICIAL

The land into which east siders are being led, however, is one of promise. For the old-time tenements are turning out, to pass entirely, perhaps, some day when model housing becomes general.

The east side itself a year hence will have two blocks of new and very modern apartments. An old factory will begin to tumble May 1 to make room for them. Then 250 families will get, for $12.50 a room, baths, swimming pools, incinerators, sunshine, ventilation and maybe an auditorium and library.

Battered and overflowing garbage cans will disappear from front stoops and it won't be necessary for housewives to air their bedding on fire-escapes as in the past.

So alluring is this prospect, fed by tales trickling back from model tenements in the other boroughs, that applications for the 250 apartments are expected to reach 400 before building begins. They are coming in at the rate of a dozen a day and the site has yet to be cleared.

STANDARDS HIGHER

This tendency to seek a better standard of living is attributed to the racial crucible having finally fused its contents. Native generations, born into American ways, have reached refinement.

There are, the chamber of commerce says, fewer foreigners downtown than at any time in the past 20 years. A new face from the old country is almost a novelty. Recent arrivals at Ellis Island are settling out where the subways touch the city's less congested fringes.

It is hard, nevertheless, for many of the old families to leave familiar scenes. It is even more difficult for the small merchants, some 300 of whom must move out of 100,000 locations are being found for all but about 10 per cent. The other tenth were about ready to retire anyway, so dispossession will merely hasten their closing-out sales.

Today's Anniversary

A VOYAGE OF DISCOVERY
Two hundred and fifty-six years ago today two of the most picturesque characters in the history of American exploration—Louis Joliet, the French trader, and Father Marquette, the missionary—started from St. Ignace mission on Lake Michigan to explore the western waterways of America.

This trip, begun May 17, 1673, was accomplished in two canoes with the aid of five French helpers and resulted in the discovery of the Mississippi river.

In many ways it was the most remarkable voyage of discovery and exploration of all times. Their frail boats were inadequate; their crews were small and the Frenchmen were dependent upon friendly Indian tribes they met for food and supplies.

The first stage of the journey carried them to Green Bay, and from there they cruised up the Fox river and made friends with a new tribe of Indians—the Mascoutins.

The Mississippi was discovered after a descent of the Wisconsin river, on June 17, 1673. The party explored its majestic length as far south as the Arkansas river and two months after the start of the journey began the return trip.

THE PREVALENCE OF BILLINGS COMPLAINT

Popular ideas of science are sick, chry, fragmentary, tinged with imagination and usually untempered by reason or common sense. Popular writers in many instances feel no difference about presenting the "wonders of science" to the laity without any editing or even any counsel by a scientist. Few lay readers are capable of weighing the credibility of these half baked newspaper or magazine items, and especially so with respect to human science, for human science is the most neglected of all branches of science taught in high school or college.

These thoughts are thrust upon me every day, by the character of the questions people ask; not merely the dumb ones that just naturally ask foolish questions, but all classes and grades of people, from college professors, ministers, lawyers, editors to taxi drivers, policemen, news boys and chorus girls. A considerable number of these queries are evidently prompted by a bit of newspaper or magazine science the writers have picked up, for quite frequently there is a reference to the item if not a clipping of it, with the question.

For instance, in the last year or two there has been circulated around the country, both in newspapers and in magazines, a curious item purporting to come from Vienna, telling how some savant had discovered a way to nourish the human body thru the skin, and there, just a vague hint that this miracle is effected by a special combination of certain nutritive elements, etc., which spells to my mind merely the advance agent's preparation of customers for the new body builder, tonic, nerve strengthener or what can we do for you. I have received clippings of this item from time to time in the year or two it has been handed about, and for a while I went them, just for fun, but my interest lagged after 50 or so from different sources had accumulated.

It is really a scandal to our national intelligence that there is no check on the publication, broadcasting or circulation of such nonsense in the name of "science." Unquestionably it has a most harmful influence on the national well being. Why is it that this sort of thing goes on unrestrained and without any protest even from the victims when they discover how egregiously they have been misled or deceived?

Here's a clipping from an article by an honest to goodness scientist, in fact a chemist, about some animal experimentation or research in which a vague retarding effect on the growth of a peculiar form of animal tumor that is not transmissible to man was noted when the animals were treated with aluminum and calcium salts. This chemist grabs the note and turns it into a good salable newspaper or magazine story. All he has to do is copy out the details from the scientific report, and append thereto an earnest remark to the effect that this work has a possible application to the treatment of human cancer. (Cue! I call that. It earned a few dollars for the needy chemist, perhaps, but what effect did it have on the victims of cancer? I tell you I most heartily damn this chemist and all of his ilk when I have to try to explain to the victims of the hoax that one should never take newspaper or magazine stories of new cures or remedies seriously.)

Just Billings little knew how prevalent the complaint was destined to become when he first described it: "The trouble with a lot of plain people is they know so many things which ain't so."

Adventures In The Library

By Arnold Mulder
CLEVER BUT NOT SMART
Of all the books I have learned to detect the smart-Aleck novel or story in the worst. There is nothing more tiring than the novel whose dialog is made up of wisecracks. There are whole magazines that are devoted to that kind of thing and there are novelists who consider their time wasted if they do not give the readers some half a dozen wise-cracks to the page. They know perfectly well that in real life the average is far smaller than that. They are not portraying real life; they are shifting the emphasis from life to the bon mot. A smart saying that naturally flows out of a situation is precious and highly to be prized, but when they are manufactured on a wholesale scale, they become cheap.

These reflections are incubated by the reading of a brief novel that is the antithesis of the smart-Aleck book. Yet it is full of clever things, bubbles over with them. Donald Ogden Stewart has sometimes been guilty of more or less artificial suavity, but in his latest novel, "Father William," he not only escapes that charge but he produces a book that is genuinely funny. Its cleverness is spontaneous or at least it has the effect of spontaneity.

The situation itself is funny. When a middle aged man makes a fool of himself with a girl young enough to be his daughter, it is legitimate matter for smiles. In the wise "Alice in Wonderland," from which the title is taken, Father William is represented as old and grey but persisting on standing on his head. In Stewart's book, Austin, the hero, is 45 but he imagines himself the object of desire of a girl of 19. Add to that the middle aged man's young son is in love with the same girl and becomes his father's rival and you have a situation that is full of spontaneous humor.

The book is slight but it is meant to be that. Do not look for the emotions that are to be obtained from reading a Greek tragedy. No one takes anything very seriously. The characters live on the surface of life and their loves and hates and despairs in the real sense. You can't imagine any of those people really suffering.

But that is that kind of book it purports to be. The author tells his story in that key and he does it extremely well. It is difficult to tell such a story but Donald Ogden Stewart has shown several times that he has the knack of it.

The remarkable fact about the book is that these flimsy over-sophisticated human beings are genuine human beings. Often that type of book gives you a collection of cardboard figures. The figures are in the book merely for the purpose of saying the smart things that the author wants to put into his book.

In "Father William" the smart things proceed naturally from people who are in character from the first page to the last. So well has Stewart worked up his people that one of the best characters in the novel is one who does not appear in it at all. This is Austin's life who has died some time before the story opens. She exists only in the mind of Austin and is given to the reader in the reflections of that pleasure-loving middle aged man while he is lying in bed. In spite of this she emerges as the perfect type of the managing wife who will not let her husband have a life of his own.

"Father William" is the kind of book that you can heartily recommend to anyone who wants to read for recreation only. The nice thing about it is that the recreation is built on a solid structure of sound character drawing and on humor that is spontaneous.

Dr. Abbott L. Lowell, president of Harvard university, will receive a honorary degree from Edinburgh university.

FLASHES FROM HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood — The home town boy who makes good in the big city is likely to inspire similar ambitions in other home town boys who knew him when he was in Hollywood.

David Newell is in Hollywood today partly because of a home town girl who made good here. Newell is the tall, very tall and athletic young fellow you may have seen and heard in "The Hole in the Wall," and are to see and hear in Clara Bow's second all-talker, "Dangerous Curves." The home town girl is Joan Crawford.

When David Newell's very busy business-like dad in Kansas City saw that his son was determined enough on a theatrical career to leave home and earn his way along on the boards, in tank towns, stock, or what-have-you, he thought it might not be a bad idea for David to try the movies, which were much more remunerative.

By way of relaxation he was something of a movie fan himself, and then there was Joan, whom David used to take to dances at home, and look at her now! So for about three years David's dad talked movies to David, who "couldn't" them" because to him "the stage was art."

CONVERT

Then the movies began to talk too, and David watched the development of their voice through the pioneer stages of talkies. He was interested, and besides he was out of work. He had had some disheartening experiences on the New York stage, such as leads in flop plays, and then the lead in Ethel Barrymore's "Kingdom of God," which he played on the road tryout only to lose before the Broadway opening night because miss Barrymore's producers persuaded the star she needed a more mature player in the role.

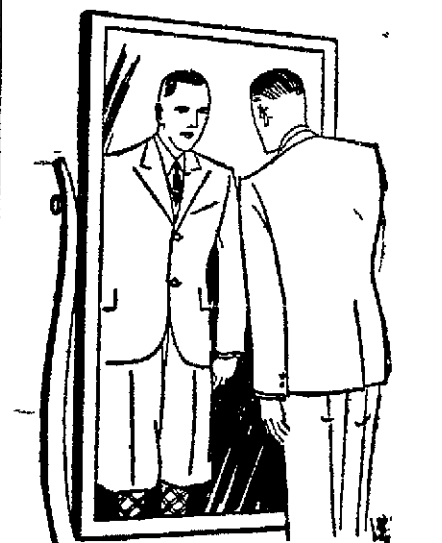

David, nearly broke, gave himself one month to get a job in talkers in the east. With only five days left of the allotted period, he won the "Hole in the Wall" role.

Before the picture was completed he had been signed to a long term contract, and now has come to Hollywood.

LONG BOY

Newell's height (he is six feet two) has both aided and hindered his career so far. He won his first stage role in a Kansas City community theater because a tall leading lady needed a taller leading man, and his six feet two undoubtedly played a part in his selection for "The Kingdom of God" by Miss Barrymore, who is said to prefer tall leading men.

But in the movies he was slated for the lead in "Dangerous Curves" when the script was altered so as to require a shorter man opposite Clara Bow. So Dick Arlen got the role, and David has become the "second lead," a sort of unvillainous heavy.

SINCLAIR MIGHT EMPLOY HIS TALENT TO DECORATE JAIL

Millionaire Had Walls of Hotel Suit Painted Bright Blue

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—One of the jobs Harry Sinclair might qualify for during his 90 days of incarceration is that of interior decorator.

There is little question that Sinclair will find room for certain aesthetic improvements in his new surroundings and his jailer will probably find the oil man glad to make any suggestions and to supervise their execution.

When he is a free man in Washington Sinclair stays at the Carlton hotel, which is a very swell place, and it was here that he demonstrated his eyes for color and his aversion for drabness.

The walls and rooms of the hotel were once all of a putty color, their surface being fashionably scrambled and reassembling so much chewing gum. But Sinclair told the management he must have the walls of his suite splashed with a little bright blue over all. When this was done the effect was so rich that the management carried the scheme out throughout the hotel.

If the senate lags far behind the house in dealing with this year's legislation one is justified in predicting that the fault will be that of the Hon. J. Thomas Heflin, senior senator from Alabama.

Tom's proposed method of salvation was the passage of his resolution condemning in no uncertain terms the unidentified persons in Brockton, Mass., who are alleged to have hurled a milk bottle at him as he was being driven to make a speech to the Ku Klux Klan. This resolution was badly beaten, but the mere beating has given Heflin something to talk about the rest of the session.

If the house is truly supposed to be a representative body the Smoots Jones' and Browns of the nation would seem to have a legitimate squawk.

There's one more test which you alone can make

SCREEN-GRID! Wonderful new principle of radio—applied by Atwater Kent with almost unbelievable results.

Old words like "tone," "selectivity" and "distance" blaze up with new meaning. The power and reach of a giant—with a voice like a heavenly choir...

All over the United States this new Screen-Grid Atwater Kent is winning friends by the thousand. Reports come back: "Extraordinary," "Unbelievable," "Getting stations I didn't know existed," "New chapter in radio history." And so on.

What do you say? How do you like the needle-point separation of programs, the round-up of far-away stations, the flexible volume, the simple and quiet operation, the unclouded purity of reception?

Imagine having an Electro-Dynamic radio set so silently operated that you actually need a tiny dial-light inside the set to tell you whether it is turned on or off!

In pauses between musical selections or between the words of a speaker, this set is quiet—unmurmuring—with the silence of skilled engineering and smooth, unruffled operation. And then when the music comes—what reality! What immense power! What sweetness of tone!

We, who have concentrated 27 years' electrical experience in the Atwater Kent Screen-Grid set, and have proved its quality by every conceivable test and by the enthusiasm of owners everywhere—now we should like to know what you think. Won't you visit an Atwater Kent dealer today, or have a home demonstration—and let us know?

Outline Big Sister Plan To Council

MRS. E. C. COONEY and Mrs. William Nemacheck of this city were in Oshkosh Wednesday where they attended the meeting of the fourth annual meeting of the Wisconsin Catholic Women's Council in that city. Mrs. Cooney and Mrs. Nemacheck were in attendance in an unofficial capacity, for no Catholic Women's organizations of this city are affiliated with the state council of Catholic women.

One of the outstanding features of the convention was the introduction to the members of Big Sister movement which places children of the cities in smaller communities and rural homes for summer vacations. Under privileged children between the ages of seven and fourteen are sent to the homes accompanied by a welfare worker who also calls for them. Transportation is furnished by the railroad companies. The children sent may be undernourished but they are free from any disease. Each child is given a careful physical examination by a physician 24 hours before leaving the city.

This year vacations for 200 children are sought. The Big Brothers and Big Sisters is a non-sectarian organization of Milwaukee and the summer department cares for needy children regardless of religion. It is supported by the Milwaukee County Community fund.

The plan adopted in placing children for vacations is to have a member of the Wisconsin club, church or civic organization or any other responsible person act as chairman in the community for the summer outing work. The chairman gets together a list of persons willing to take children into their homes for two weeks, free of charge, and ascertains whether they want boys or girls, the ages and religious preferences.

Mrs. Nemacheck and Mrs. Cooney of this city are in possession of all information regarding the movement. The address of the Big Brothers and Big Sisters is 14 Wells-st., Milwaukee.

The Tynymites

By Hal Cochran

The Goofygoo said, "My, you're kind, and I don't think I'll ever find a way to thank you for the things that you have done for me. I'm sorry that I ran away and took your bread. 'Twas just in play, I'm sure that, after this, I'll be as good as I can be."

Then Clowny said, "I know that you are sorry for bad things you do. It's just that you are fond of tricks. I used to be that way. But folks misunderstand your pranks and never think to give you thanks for being rather funny. They don't realize it's play."

"Now, go ahead and eat your meal. When you are through I know you'll feel much better. Food is always fine to make a person strong. I fear that if the others knew that I was out here feeding you, they'd think that I was easy and was doing very wrong. 'They'll wake up with the morning breeze, so hurry with your eating, please.' The Goofygoo ate fast and very shortly said, 'I'm through.' Wee Clowny watched him, with a smile and said, 'Sit down and rest awhile. I'll have to leave you now, 'cause there are things that I must do.'"

When Clowny reached the bunch again, he shouted very loud, and then they woke up with quite a start. Cried Clowny, "It is morn! Hop up and exercise a bit, and soon you will be feeling fit. You all have slept so soundly that right now, you look forlorn."

Just then they heard a noise nearby, and Scouty jumped and shouted, "My! The Goofygoo is acting up. Perhaps it's 'cuse he's tied." The funny bird had tried to fly, and as he flapped up toward the sky, he perked the baker's house, and flopped it on its side.

(The Tynymites fix the house in the next story.)

"Nevertheless," the banker interrupted Tony, "you are going to make it a condition of marrying Richard that he support himself and you on that 'paltry fifty a week.' Is that right?"

"Yes, Mr. Talbot," Tony agreed. "The reason being that I could not respect my husband if he could not support me without help from his father. As I told you, I want to make a success of this marriage. If I go into it."

"Hum!" The banker considered hostile eyes. "May I ask, young lady, how much your father gives you a month, for spending money?"

"My allowance is one hundred dollars a month," Tony admitted. "It does not pay for my clothes."

"Exactly!" The father's smile was sardonic. "I fear you are being heroic and romantic, rather than practical, my dear. Two young people, accustomed to every luxury—"

"That goes for Dick, Mr. Talbot, not for me," Tony contradicted him flatly. "As you very well know, Pat's — I mean, my father's small fortune is of very recent date. Painfully recent to Mrs. Talbot, I'm afraid. Three years ago my father, Pat Tarver, was making exactly forty-eight dollars a week as an automobile mechanic. Out of that salary he managed to support a family of three and to give me a high school education. His invention brought him sudden prosperity — and more than a little unhappiness to my mother. She was more content on Myrtle Street than she has ever been on Serenity Boulevard. I'm not at all dismayed at the prospect of living on fifty dollars a week—provided Dick can really earn that much! I spend money now — very freely, I admit — because Pat has plenty of it for me to spend and enjoys seeing me spend it. But things have never meant an awful lot to me, Mr. Talbot."

"I'm afraid they have meant a great deal to Richard," Mr. Talbot cut in, heavily.

"The point is, whether they mean more to him than — well, than I do," Tony retorted. "Or proving himself a man, not just a pampered, spoiled boy. I'm not asking Dick to live in a squalor. I can cook plain things very well now, and I'd learn all the time. I can sew. I can keep house. There are pretty little bungalows out in the Enfield Addition—built by Bob Hathaway — that rent for fifty dollars a month, including steam heat from a central point. We could afford one on fifty a week, and later, if Dick earned anything like the salary to which a college education, good brains and a pleasing personality entitled him, we could have a small car and—"

Suddenly Dick Talbot sprang to his feet, so violently that his chair was overturned. "Good Lord, Tony! You must be crazy; Either that, or you're just trying to get out of keeping your promise! If you want to know what I think—"

"Richard!" his father thundered, rising and seizing the furious boy's arm in a vise-like grip.

"Will you excuse us a moment, my dear?" the banker asked Tony, his voice unexpectedly benignant again. "I'd like to talk things over with Richard."

Tony watched them as, the father's arm across the son's shoulders, the two crossed Cherry's long living room and took their stand in

WOMEN CONTROL TOWN POLITICS IN GROVER, COL.

Greeley, Colo. —(AP)—Women are in complete control of the town of Grover, Colo., 50 miles northeast of here.

At the spring election the populace, which numbers about 500 souls named Mrs. A. G. Lower mayor and gave her a board of women trustees.

The issue was between the wets and the dries. The wets were so strong with the men that no member of the "strong" sex would run on a dry platform.

So the women named their ticket, did the campaigning and won the election. The only man remaining as a holdover trustee resigned and his wife was appointed in his place.

CAT OFFERED SALARY AND ALSO CAR FARE

Manchester, England —(AP)—There's a good opening in a Manchester blouse-and-costume business for an industrious cat which doesn't mind night work. When rat poison failed, the concern placed this "ad" in the papers: "Cat wanted in city warehouse, six p. m. to nine a. m. each day. Owners to deliver and collect. Five shillings per week and car fares."

MINE WORKED WITH SUCCESS BY MERE GIRL

Pittsburgh —(AP)—Operating a coal mine and saw mill is part of the day's work for Miss Margaret E. Barnett of Pittsburgh. She sells a load of lumber with the nonchalance of a salesgirl disposing of a hat.

When head of a medical institution in Pittsburgh which mined its own coal, Miss Barnett conceived the idea of owning a mine herself.

She acquired a half interest in a large tract of coal land in Somerset county and proceeded to mine it. She hired the men, secured the railroad siding and superintended the drilling. High boots and slacker were her habitual garb. The mine proved successful.

Encouraged by her success with coal, she procured a timber tract and took entire charge of cutting the lumber and selling it.

SEEK BUS SERVICE OUT TO CEMETERY

Council Committee Meets to Consider Means of Adding Extra Route

Neenah — The committee on streets, highways and bridges meeting at the city hall Friday to make arrangements to provide bus service to Oak Hill cemetery before Memorial day. When the Wisconsin Michigan Light and Power company inaugurated its bus services in the city it was understood the bus routes would be extended so as to include Riverside park, the bathhouse, and Oak Hill cemetery during the summer. This the company intends to do but the committee hopes to hasten the service, it is said, so that people may go there to care for graves prior to the annual Memorial Day exercises. Service to both the park and cemetery was discontinued when the city allowed the "dinky" car to be taken off and operations on the Oshkosh-Neenah interurban line to cease.

In this connection the city council on several occasions brought up the matter of cheaper fare on the Oshkosh-Neenah line, especially in the city limits. At the same time an effort was made to have that bus take in the cemetery route on some of its trips to Oshkosh instead of turning at Harrison-st., city officials said.

Representatives of both the Wisconsin Michigan Power and Light and Wisconsin Power company were present and took part upon which they will report later in the day. The country roads from the cemetery to highway 41 are too bad to guarantee a regular route by the Oshkosh bus, but the representative thought that while the bus was waiting here 45 minutes between each trip daily, a trip to the cemetery could be included in its routing. The Appleton bus makes trips to the west side factories several times a day and it was thought a trip to the cemetery could be arranged by this time.

With this single exception, all picnic groups are to walk to the place where the picnic is to be held, school officials announced.

SHIELDS TRIES TO TAKE REINS AT UNIVERSITY

Is Assured Protection by Iowa Authorities in Battle for Control

BULLETIN — Des Moines, Iowa — (AP) — Students of Des Moines university today passed a resolution in chapel saying none of them would return to the institution after June 4. The resolution was voted to the Baptist Bible Union of North America, fundamentalist organization which finances the school, which now is in convention at Buffalo, N. Y.

Buffalo, N. Y. — (AP) — Assured by Iowa executives that full protection of the law would be granted trustees of Des Moines university in operating the school, Dr. Thomas T. Shields, chairman of the board, today launched a fight to regain the reins there. He and his colleagues now are barred by court injunction.

John W. Van Allen, Buffalo attorney, was requested by Dr. Shields to recommend counsel in Des Moines to begin court action for the removal of the injunction. Van Allen has already communicated with Iowa attorneys.

If the injunction is lifted, Dr. Shields said today, the University will not be closed. There will be a reorganization of the faculty, he said, but it may not necessarily include dismissal of all present members.

Dr. Shields declared he received recently from H. O. Meyer, of Los Angeles, one of trustees, a letter written by Dr. Harry C. Wayman, ousted as president of the school with the entire faculty. The letter, according to Dr. Shields, asked Mr. Meyer to "open up a sphere of service" on the Pacific coast.

Dr. Shields said he interpreted this as an application for a position.

"It showed Dr. Wayman did not intend to remain at Des Moines, and was ready to quit before dismissal," he declared.

Miss Edith Rehman, secretary of the board of trustees, expressed herself as "very tired but very happy" at the result of the Baptist Bible Union convention, where delegates unanimously exonerated her and Dr. Shields of all charges against them.

"Everything" came out as I expected," she declared.

Dean Earl Callaway of the school and Dr. Minor Stevens, a trustee, backers of President Wayman, left for Des Moines today.

Last night Dr. Shields declared his determination to carry on the school and made a plea for $10,000 from the trustees, while Dean Callaway and the Rev. Mr. Stevens held a meeting in a hotel here and charged Dr. Shields and Miss Rehman with interference in the administration of school affairs.

Callaway and Stevens, representing President H. C. Wayman of the school, dismissed with the faculty, whose scheduled speech was cancelled at the convention, defended Wayman.

At the afternoon session, Callaway deplored the fact that the school would lose academic standing by the trustees action and when he had finished Dr. Shields was roundly denounced by the trustees.

Dr. Shields, for his part in the spreading of rumors concerning the personal integrity of Dr. Shields and Miss Rehman.

The trustee head was applauded by the delegates, and a motion was made to appoint a committee to once more draw up a resolution exonerating him in his conduct of school affairs.

Dr. Shields spoke of a remark concerning himself and Miss Rehman quoted in a Toronto newspaper and declared he considered bringing a libel suit against the publication.

A demand made by Dr. Shields that Callaway apologize publicly was not met by the dean, who left the platform declaring he refused to be further browbeaten or spat upon.

Dr. Shields' request for funds to carry on the school resulted in but a quarter of the required $10,000 being subscribed.

In discussing events leading up to the egg-hurling riot at the college at the pro-Wayman meeting last night, Dean Callaway, asked if it were true that the girls attended dances and boys had been discovered drunk, declared he knew of no instance of drunkenness among the student body.

"Nitrate Country" Is World's Driest Spot

Antofagasta, Chile — (AP) — There are never any prayers for rain in Antofagasta. Iquique and other Chilean cities which live only by the grace of nitrate.

In fact there are prayers for dry weather on the few days when a light mist falls. A heavy rain has been one in the memory of the oldest inhabitants, would mean ruin to the nitrate fields. It would dissolve the nitrate sodium in the "caliche."

"Caliche" is the most important word in the Chilean vocabulary. It is the name given to the mineral in which nitrate of sodium is found along with a number of other salts.

Chile's nitrate zone is a desert plateau lying between 2,000 and 5,000 feet above the sea. This plateau is over 200 miles long and some 40 miles wide. It is bounded on the east by the Andes and on the ocean side by a lower range of mountains.

Scientists estimate Chile has enough nitrate to supply American and European farmers with fertilizer for 300 years.

But the monopoly which Chile had of nitrate before the great war forced belligerent powers to extract nitrogen from the air has been broken and the Chilean industry is nervously watching the work of scientists who are playing strange pranks with Mother Nature.

Synthetic nitrate, that is nitrate manufactured by taking nitrogen from the air, has become a terrifying competitor of the Chilean product. Germany, the United States, Czechoslovakia, Japan and several other countries which use nitrate manufactured it on a large scale.

As Chile imposes an export tax of $12.50 a ton on nitrate and derives about one-third of her national income from this source, the problem is a serious one.

There is a furious battle on between scientists who are fighting to reduce the cost of both the synthetic and natural nitrate.

Producers of natural nitrate say it is better than the synthetic product. But the artificial nitrate has been proved to be very satisfactory, and it is now clearly a question of price.

The Guggenheim interests have developed a new method of producing natural nitrate which is expected to make it possible to land Chilean nitrate in American ports for slightly more than $30 a ton.

PROSPECT OF BIG CROP IS FARMERS' CHIEF WORRY NOW

Wheat Is Piling Up as New Crop Ripens to Add to Last Year's Holdover

BY J. C. ROYLE
(Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press.)

New York — While the senate and house are battling over the export devaluation plan in the farm relief bill, the brow of the farmer is almost as wrinkled with care today as that of Mother Macree. Prices for his products are not causing him any enthusiasm whatever. His margin of profit is narrowed materially and while it is too early for the size of new crops to be thoroughly established or even accurately approximated, the outlook is not bright enough to cause the farmer to wear blue glasses to protect his eyes.

The volume of cotton being consumed has dropped sharply. In March a much larger quantity of cotton goods was used than was produced. In April sales were nearly 30 per cent less than production. Stocks increased 2 per cent and unfilled orders dropped 14.8 per cent. Production was 293,878,000 yards, sales 202,250,000 yards, shipments 277,098,000 yards, stocks 352,091,000 and unfilled orders 420,208.

COTTON MARKET DULL

These figures when compared with March 1929, and April 1928 show that the textile business has slumped. The cotton market is feeling the effect and so is the entire south and all those who furnish the south with goods.

In the face of the situation outlined above, the farmers seem determined to increase their cotton acreage from the 46,000,000 acres planted in 1928 to between 49,000,000 and 50,000,000 acres. The season, with some few setbacks taken in account, has been the earliest and one of the best in years. Temperatures have averaged about 5 degrees above normal in most of the cotton states. The market for raw cotton is therefore discounting in its present price level the possibility of another huge crop.

The grain markets also are discounting a like possibility in that commodity. It is a strange but true thing that when everyone wants to sell and it is the most opportune time to buy, few persons are willing to buy. The elevators are full and millions of bushels ought to be on their way to market. Much is being shipped but the low prices have not stimulated either domestic nor foreign buying. Exports through New Orleans and other gulf ports are showing big gains. In April these shipments totaled 959,983 bushels from New Orleans, which compared with 690,268 bushels for the corresponding month last year. Since the federal Export Line is now running full blast, these totals are sure to be increased.

The lowering of freight rates on wheat and flour by the railroads is helping shipments and the barge lines have readjusted their rates to the new figures by a cut of 33 1/3 per cent, making the rate six cents a bushel from St. Louis, 18 cents from St. Paul and 13 1/2 cents from Kansas City and Omaha. Despite this impetus, the struggle to move wheat into foreign hands will be a terrific one. There were 122,000,000 bushels in American elevators to be moved. Canada has a huge volume moving or waiting to be moved to Europe. Argentina is selling it 1928-29 wheat as fast as possible wherever it can and the new crop from Texas will filter into the markets by June 1.

The Canadian competition can be judged from the latest reports of traffic on the Welland and St. Lawrence canals, showing a total for the Welland canal in the last year of 7,430,617 tons and $411,452 tons for the St. Lawrence.

JAMES CLAY DUNPHY DIES IN CALIFORNIA

San Francisco—(P)—The death here of James Clay Dunphy, 53, eccentric millionaire, was disclosed last night. Dunphy was a son of the late William Dunphy, wealthy cattleman of California, and Nevada.

Married six times, Dunphy gained especial note when he eloped with "Dodie" Valencia, well-known San Francisco woman, and applied for an annulment six days later.

Because of his lavish gifts to women and his extravagant habits, Dunphy, at one time, declared incompetent and placed under guardianship of a sister. Later he was restored to competency.

CAN'T SUE STATE TO RECOVER TAXES PAID UNDER OLD LAW

Assembly Refuses to Permit Legal Actions Against State

Madison—(P)—The bill allowing persons who paid inheritance taxes to Wisconsin under the unconstitutional "contemplation of death" law to start court action to recover those taxes has again been killed.

Although it passed both houses last session, it was vetoed by Gov. Zimmerman.

The law held that gifts and donations made to heirs within six years previous to death were in contemplation of death and were therefore taxable as inheritances.

The United States supreme court held this law unconstitutional after the state supreme court upheld it.

The Cudahy heirs, Milwaukee, who bore the brunt of the appeal to the federal court, won their taxes, but several smaller tax amounts were not paid back because no court action was taken within the statutes of limitations, these heirs considering that the state's courts ruling would stand.

The Fryzyleki bill would have allowed these heirs to start action, voiding the statute of limitation in their cases.

Assemblyman Reis, Madison, Progressive floor leader, opposed the bill on grounds that their heirs should have made their appeals within the legal time.

Speaker Charles B. Perry stood with him on this score.

There was weak support for the bill and it was killed 52 to 17.

Assemblyman John Cooper's joint resolution for a committee to investigate the possibilities and methods of raising legislators' salaries for the next session, was so plastered with amendments that it was decided to lay it over for a while until the amendments could all be straightened out and studied.

The bill follows the referendum election majority in favor of a constitutional amendment to allow the legislature to so increase its salaries.

A substitute amendment was presented by the author of the Hoels gasoline tax and highway program bill, and, under the rules, it forced consideration of the bill on Calender.

HOAN INCONSISTENT, DISCH CHARGES IN LETTER TO MAYOR

Refuses to Quit and Tells Hoan to Look After "Private Enterprises"

Milwaukee—(P)—J. W. Disch, city real estate agent, charges Mayor Daniel W. Hoan with "inconsistency" and suggests that the mayor look after his own "private enterprises," in a letter to the chief executive, refusing to resign his position. The letter was a reply to one received by Disch from the mayor a few days ago.

The disagreement was brought about over Disch's acceptance of $15,000 from the Milwaukee road for the railroad. The acceptance of this money is one of the chief abuses alleged to exist in the city hall by the report of the recent grand jury. A resolution drawn up by the council demanding a probe is now in the hands of a committee.

"If all of the other city officials and employees who have received in some form private enterprises and prepared to resign, I am ready to do likewise, but I do not propose to be a political scapegoat for any one," Mr. Disch says.

With reference to the mayor's letter in which the executive declared he was unwilling to assume responsibility for the fees paid to the real estate agent by the Milwaukee road, Mr. Disch says:

"I have never asked you—nor do I intend that you should be asked—to shoulder any responsibility for any fees which I may have received as an individual, any more than I expect to assume any responsibility for any fees which you may be receiving from private enterprises."

With reference to the work Mr. Disch performed for the Milwaukee road mayor Hoan says in his letter under date of May 13: "I originally gave my consent to this employment because it was necessary to promote the early progress of the Northwest track depression work, and I have no apologies to offer."

SEES HER SISTER HIT AND KILLED BY TRAIN

Cudahy—(P)—As her sister looked on on Saturday night when she stepped into the path of a passenger train. The victim, Margaret Hobbes, was walking along a path near the tracks hand in hand with her sister, Virginia, 16. As Virginia stepped aside to pick up something, Margaret walked into the tracks.

LILLI LEHMANN, 81, NOTED OPERA STAR, IS DEAD IN BERLIN

Was One of Brightest Lights on Operatic Stage in 19th Century

Berlin—(P)—Lilli Lehmann, famous opera singer, died today at the age of 81.

During the last quarter of the nineteenth century Lilli Lehmann was one of the most powerful operatic magnets of two continents.

She was an outstanding star in years when the musical drama stage boasted of such great artists as Lillian Nordica, Minnie Hauk, Marcella Sembrich, Emma Eames and Emma Juch among prima donnas, and Albert Niemann, Max Alvary, Jean and Edouard De Reszke, Paul Plancon and Victor Maurel among the male singers.

Frau Lehmann truly was the artist who loved her art. She continued her active association with it while her physical and vocal power endured, which was until after she became an octogenarian.

It was on her 80th birthday anniversary that world attention was again directed to the great career of this former queen of the opera stage. She had disappeared from the public eye since she responded to her last curtain call more than 25 years before and, with new heroes and new heroines to claim the plaudits of a new opera public, the great Lehmann was all but forgotten.

Her arrival at the four-score year post of life not only recently recalled Frau Lehmann's American and European triumphs of by-gone years, but disclosed that she was continuing her musical career. It never had been interrupted. When she made her last public appearance she turned from the stage to the studio and there, just as conscientiously as she had devoted herself to her numerous roles, she sought to train young singers to maintain the high standard of opera she knew.

Frau Lehmann was born in Wurzburg, Germany, Nov. 24, 1848. Her mother was Marie Lehmann, a harpist of note and a prima donna who was the original heroine of some of the operas of the famous composer Spohr. Lilli was taught singing and music by her mother and made her debut at Prague when she was 20 years old. She afterward appeared at Danzig and Leipzig. Her first appearance at Berlin was in August, 1870, as Yvonne in Meyerbeer's "Feldlager in Schlesien," singing with such success that she was engaged there as a light soprano, remaining until 1880.

Meanwhile, Mme. Lehmann aided in the inauguration of the great musical festivals at Bayreuth sponsored by Richard Wagner. She was the last survivor of the group of operatic stars who sang the "Nibelungenring" in 1875, with the famous composer conducting. In time she developed as one of the preeminent singers of heroic roles of Wagnerian opera.

Mme. Lehmann made her debut with the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York, November 25, 1885, singing the title role in "Carmen." She concluded her engagements when German opera was discontinued in 1889, but she returned as a member of the company for the seasons of 1891 and 1892, singing roles in languages other than German. For four seasons thereafter she confined her engagements to European musical centers, but returned to the United States for concert work in 1897 and later again joined the Metropolitan. She made her last appearance in opera in New York in "Tanhauser" in March, 1899.

A concert tour during the season of 1901-02 marked the final singing engagements of Mme. Lehmann in the United States. She did not visit this country after that, but for several years continued her operatic work in Europe.

MAN NABBED TRYING TO FORCE SAFE IN CHURCH

Chicago—(P)—Joseph Tompkins, 65, was found last night kneeling in front of the safe of St. Sabina Episcopal church. In front of the spot where he knelt was the church safe; and beside Tompkins were some tools for getting into it.

Why anyone should attempt to rob the church safe was a mystery to the Kiev. William Travis, for there was no money in it.

MAYOR WILL HEAD LOCAL DELEGATION TO LEAGUE MEETING

Annual Gathering of State Municipalities Will Be Held in Watertown

A number of city officials from Appleton headed by Mayor A. C. Rule probably will attend at least some of the sessions of the thirty-first annual convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities at Watertown May 22, 23, and 24. Attendance of local officials at the gathering recently was authorized by the council.

The program will open at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, May 22, with registration, followed by a "get acquainted" session, according to tentative plans.

Mayor A. H. Hartwig, Watertown, will deliver the address of welcome to the visiting delegates at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The response on behalf of the league will be made by Mayor T. J. Reimert, Antigo. The president's address by Charles E. Hammersley, Shorewood, village attorney, will follow, and A. S. Zander, Madison, will submit the report of the secretary-treasurer. Presentation of resolutions and other matters to come before the convention then will be in order.

Other talks scheduled for the afternoon are: A Municipal Streets Lighting System, by Howard F. Ilgner, superintendent of Electrical Service, Milwaukee; Steps in the Development of a Modern Municipal Budget, by Harold H. Henderson, Madison.

EVENING PROGRAM
The evening program will open at 8 o'clock with a talk by Walter Bender, Wauwatosa, on Special Assessments as a Source of Municipal Revenue. L. F. Warrick, state sanitary engineer, also will speak, his subject to be Municipal Cooperation in Pollution Control Activities.

An address by Frank R. King, state plumbing and domestic sanitary engineer, on Municipal Regulation of Plumbing, will open the Thursday program at 9 o'clock in the morning. Other talks on the morning program are: A Uniform Building Code, by W. C. Muehlstein, building engineer, Industrial Commission of Wisconsin; An Effective System of Snow Removal, by P. J. Hurtgen, director of public works, Kenosha.

Sectional lunch meetings, extending into the afternoon, will start at 12:15. Special programs have been planned for each section upon subject of particular interest to the various groups. Sections include mayor and alderman's, village, city clerk's and treasurers, city attorneys, and engineers.

A banquet and entertainment will be offered by the league by the city of Watertown at 7 o'clock in the evening.

The convention will close Friday morning. The speaker at this time will be Prof. M. G. Gleaser, University of Wisconsin, Madison, on Municipalities and Public Utility Rates and Regulation. Following this talk, a symposium on Public Power in Wisconsin, and action upon resolutions and other matters to come before the convention, are scheduled. Election of officers and selection of the 1930 convention city will complete the program.

Headquarters will be at Turner Hall.

Airport Chatter

Minneapolis has completed plans for a $450,000 improvement development of the municipal airport. Work will be completed by midsummer, according to present plans. Officials in charge are carrying out the work to ultimately qualify the airport for an A-1-A rating, the highest given by the department of commerce.

The Pittsburgh Aircraft agency corporation is preparing to develop a large commercial airport about 27 miles north of Pittsburgh and adjacent to the town of Butler. Plans call for development of 610 acres with runways of from 4,000 to 6,000 feet. A school will be operated from the airport and the operation of an air line between Pittsburgh and Washington is under consideration.

Rochester, N. Y., has a new rotating beacon installed by a tire company of aid fliers. It is a standard 24-inch 7,000,000 candle power unit which makes two revolutions per minute. An auxiliary searchlight has been erected to project a shaft of light in the direction of the Rochester municipal airport. The installation has been certified as an aid to navigation by the department of commerce and is operating from dusk to dawn nightly.

The beacon atop the Lowry national bank building in Atlanta has been recertified by the department of commerce for operation. The installation consists of a standard 2,000,000 candle power rotating beacon with a fixed shaft of light pointing toward Candler field, the municipal airport.

Allentown, Pa., is considering the acquisition of the department of commerce intermediate field located near that city. A study is under way to determine the possibilities for expanding the field to make it eligible for a high federal airport rating. The city proposes to raise the necessary funds for improvement of the field through a bond issue, submitted to the voters.

The airways division of the department of commerce will start a survey of the Pittsburgh-Cleveland airway soon for the installation of navigation aids.

The department of commerce has discontinued operation of the Belleville, N. J., airway beacon on the New York-Boston mail airway. Owing to the congested nature of the surrounding district and the flood of competing light the beacon was found to be ineffective.

20 High School Girls' Will Study Nursing

Girls graduates of Appleton high school in the class of 1929 appear to have a weakness for wanting to help people, for 20 of them will enroll in nurses training courses next fall. The finding is the result of the University of Wisconsin extension division survey here. Prof. Marshall C. Graff, is director of the Appleton district of the division.

Many members of the graduating class intend to continue schooling, the survey shows, and 30 plan to enroll in Lawrence college next fall. The University of Wisconsin will get the next largest group, 19 students having indicated a preference for that institution. Five students will enter Marquette university, one Lawrence Conservatory of Music, one Michael Reese hospital, Chicago, one Layton School of Art, one Chicago Art Institute, one Mount Mary college, Milwaukee, one La Crosse state teachers college, four Milwaukee state teachers college, three Oshkosh state teachers college, three Stout Institute, one University of Southern California, four Actual Business college, one Milwaukee hospital, one Columbia university, New York, one Bellin hospital, Green Bay, two Outagamie-co Training school, six other business colleges, two Columbia hospital, two St. Lukes hospital, one University of California, two Mesley Memorial hospital, two St. Mary hospital, and one an aviation school.

The professions or vocations in which the graduates show preference presents an interesting study. Twenty girls will become nurses, 23 students will become stenographers, 30 will become teachers, and 17 are undecided. There are 12 potential business men in the class, and nine engineers. Eight students indicated

SULTAN OF SULU FLIES: NOW IS AIR ENTHUSIAST

Washington—(AP)—The sultan of Sulu again has boded into the limelight, this time in the role of an aviator. The sultan is not a comic opera character, but the ruler of an island in the Philippines.

The war department has been notified that the sultan and his entire retinue took to the air during a carnival in Manila and had the time of their lives.

Representatives of certain non-Christian tribes of the Philippine archipelago were invited to the carnival this year. Capt. Donald Wilson invited the sultan for an airplane ride. After some hesitation, he accepted.

When he came down, he was so delighted that his secretary wanted to go aloft too. When the secretary landed safely, the sultan's entire retinue made a dash for the plane.

"BATHHOUSE" JOHN LOOKING FOR WIN IN KENTUCKY DERBY

His Entry, Karl Eitel, Enters Noted Race at Odds of Ten to One

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1929, By Coun. Press

Chicago—"Bathhouse John" Coughlin, perennial political czar of the world's richest ward, is just one rung from the top of the turf ladder today.

The "Bath" is confident that he can scale that additional step on Saturday, when Karl Eitel, his blue-blooded three-year-old enters the Kentucky Derby at the favorable odds of ten to one.

This honor, the lord of Chicago's loop had expected to reserve for Michael Kenna—the Hinky Dink of song and story, his lifelong pal and political associate from the colorful days of the "gay nineties"—the days of Hinky's "Working Man's Saloon" with its biggest schooner of beer in the world for a nickel.

But Hinky Dink by any other name was not so lucky, and Michael Kenna, as a racer fizzled. Then the Louie almost went to Roguish Eye, the favorite of the Coughlin stables this year, but he went lame during training.

Today the thought of victory has stirred "Bathhouse John"—now a dignified and polished businessman, and authority on politics and poetry, horses and clothes—to burst into lyrical expression.

"If my entry wins the Derby," he comments, "I may, even at my advanced years, write a sonnet or madrigal in honor of the occasion. It would run something like this:

"Twas the great Kentucky Derby Day
And all the stands were full—
Safeguarded by the smooth fly cop
And also the harness bull—
"Then I can describe how my entrant beat the barrier, tin canned home and copped the fifty grand, or whatever the purse is.

The "Bath" has other treats for Derby Day visitors in the event his horse cops. He is known as a "bolshevik" in dress, the splendor of which times is dazzling to associates in the Chicago council.

So for the occasion he has an ensemble featuring the color of his stable—apple blossom pink. He had prepared an apple blossom pongee suit. The coat is two button, single breasted, with belted back and pearl buttons. Socks, tie and handkerchiefs are of the same color—as are the trousers. There are to be sport shoes and an apple blossom hula cane. A brown derby is to top it all.

"I hope that Derby day will be rainy and sunny so that I may have the pleasure and honor of being escorted to the steward's stand in my Derby suit," he explains. If Karl Eitel crashes through with a win, the crowds may have their treat.

When Alderman Coughlin decided a few years back to revive his stable he had a difficult time naming its new colts. There were twenty-four of them. When the names went in, they included "Good Beer," "For Per Cent," and "Light Wine"; but these were blue pencilled by turf authorities. Karl Eitel is named after a local hotel owner.

Both "Bathhouse John" and "Hinky Dink" Kenna occupy positions that are a far cry from the old rough and tumble days when they acquired their well-earned notoriety as leaders of the old first ward of Chicago.

Their friendship never has been broken. Several years ago when an effort was made to legislate them out of office as aldermen by cutting down the membership of the city council, Hinky Dink retired in favor of Coughlin. The voters have become so accustomed to voting for "The Bath" that he no longer has opposition on election day.

2,200 PARCELS OF LAND TO BE SOLD

County Delinquent Tax Sale Starts on June 11, County Treasurer Says

More than 2,200 parcels of land in Outagamie-co. owned by persons who are delinquent in payment of taxes, are to be offered at a tax sale on June 11, according to Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer. It is estimated by Miss Ziegenhagen that this is approximately 500 more parcels of land than were offered for sale last year.

No figures as to the actual amount of delinquent taxes are available at the county treasurer's office as several hundred citizens have paid up their delinquencies since the town treasurers' rolls were turned in on April 1.

At that time the total delinquent taxes were $103,502.61 or about $21,000 more than in 1928 when the delinquent taxes totaled $82,501.25. Appleton returned $15,934 in delinquent taxes this year as compared with $50,022 last year.

The workers have been contending for restoration of conditions and pay as existing prior to the inauguration of the "stretch out system," but are understood to have agreed to operate a few more looms than under the old system with additional help. Some adjustments were also made in pay.

LOCAL OFFICIALS MUST ENFORCE ALL STATE HEALTH LAWS

Penalties for Failure to Conform With Regulations Severe, Says Doctor

A warning to municipal authorities and local health officials to enforce rules and regulations of the state board of health was issued Thursday by Dr. V. A. Gudex, deputy state health officer, who was here to confer with local health officers.

"The board's regulations must be enforced if contagion is to be kept down to a minimum," he said. "Laziness on the part of authorities not only works an injustice upon the families where disease has taken a hold, but it endangers the welfare of the entire community."

Although the penalty for failure to conform with state regulations is severe, a greater penalty injuring the economic well-being of a community is apt to result, he pointed out.

"Suppose a certain community which is shipping a large amount of milk daily to a distant market becomes the stronghold of a contagious disease," he said. "As soon as authorities at the milk market learn of the conditions surrounding the source of their milk supply, they will sever all relations with that particular community and go elsewhere for their product. The community that loses the business will, of course, suffer accordingly."

Dr. Gudex quoted an opinion of the attorney general of the state regarding the enforcement of state board of health rules. The opinion said in part:

HERE IS RULING

"All health officers, local boards of health, sheriffs, constables, policemen, marshals and other officers and employees of any city, village or town in this state are, by section 143.02 Wis. Statutes, required to respect and enforce the rules and regulations of your board and in case of their failure to do so, are liable to the maximum fine of $500 or to imprisonment in the county jail not more than six months, or to both such fine and imprisonment; and, in case the city, county, town or village officers, local boards of health, etc., do not cooperate with your board in carrying out the rules and regulations prescribed, your board may execute such rules and regulations by agents of your own appointing, in which event the expense incurred in so doing must be paid by the county, city, town or village, the officers of which have failed to so cooperate and in behalf of which expenses have in consequence been incurred."

The penalty for violation of the section of the statutes mentioned above is as follows:

"Any person who shall fail to obey the rules and regulations hereunder, or who shall wilfully obstruct or hinder the execution thereof, for each offense shall be fined not less than $25 nor more than $500, or imprisoned not more than six months, or both."

The general penalty for violations of state health laws is outlined as follows:

"Any person who shall wilfully violate any law relating to the public health, for which violation no other penalty is prescribed or any order or regulations of any board of health lawfully made and duly published, shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not more than three months or by fine not exceeding $100."

Dr. Gudex also urged private individuals to cooperate with authorities in reducing contagion. If a member of a family becomes ill, he advised that a physician be called promptly. Early attention may save the patient considerable discomfort, and at the same time minimize the danger to which the rest of the community is exposed, he pointed out.

FORGETTING GOD

Johnstown, Pa. — Present day Christians are giving God their second best, is the opinion of Rev. James Embelen of the Evangelical church. "Christians," he says, "have been giving the inferior and second best to God, as did the priests in the days of Malachi. God has seen dishonored the church has misused her holy testimony and the world has failed to see and know God through the people who are or should be His representatives."

"X-RAY FITTINGS"

How To Play Bridge

BY Milton C. Work

MR. WORK'S POINTERS ON CONTRACT BRIDGE

"The Auction Player unfamiliar with Contract is apt to be troubled by the big difference between Auction and Contract values for tricks, under-tricks, premiums, slams and rubbers, etc. The vulnerability feature of Contract is also apt to be confusing.

As a special service to our readers, Mr. Work will be glad to send you upon request, complimentary, a complete statement explaining all these new features, provided you enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for his reply. Mr. Work also answers all Auction and Contract questions without charge."

When Contract Bridge became established, it gathered into into its fold a feature which had been tried in Auction Bridge without becoming popular. That feature is the tribution of cards. A player holding Ace-King-Queen and three or even four others of a suit, cannot by any means be sure that he will take every trick in it even if the suit be the trump, the remaining six of seven cards may all turn up in one adverse hand. A player holding an Ace or Ace-King of a side suit cannot be sure he will take even one trick with it; no matter how short he may be, one of his adversaries may have none.

In Goulashes, No Trumps are rarely played. Immensely long suits are the order of the day, and even distributions are encountered but rarely; so a suit-bid is the contract in nine cases out of ten.

The Laws of Contract permit Goulashes but do not prescribe them; they are optional. Some Contract players seem to find that they add the spice of variety to the game, others hold that they spoil it; their use

MAKE GOOD PROGRESS REMOVING END WALLS

Almost all the culvert end walls on Highway 10 have been removed by crews working for C. J. Garvey, contractor, who has the contract to remove as many of the end walls as possible for $5,000, all the money available for the work. Mr. Garvey's bid to complete the work was more than $5,000 but on instructions from the county board the highway committee entered into contract with him to remove as many of the end walls as possible for $5,000. As soon as the work is finished on Highway 10 the crews will start removing the end walls on Highway 26.

The walls are being removed by drilling holes along the base and then setting off a small charge of dynamite on top of the wall. This breaks the solid concrete and enables

Make no Mistake— there is only one RED CROWN ETHYL!

IT is the gasoline that "knocks out that knock"—makes your car eager to get away—hungry for hills—and powerful in hard going.

There are a number of ethyl gasolines on the market but there is only one Red Crown Ethyl. It is made by combining proved, dependable Red Crown gasoline and Ethyl Brand Anti-knock Compound.

Red Crown Ethyl is sweet, clean and fast. All gums, sulphur compounds and other matter which might cause you endless trouble have been eliminated.

To rid gasoline of these harmful agents is expensive but it must be done. Their presence means corroded wrist pins and driving rods, etched cylinders and faulty pistons which call for expensive repairs.

You can buy cheap gasoline but can you afford to use it?

You'll never know what your car can do until you use Red Crown Ethyl. You can get it anywhere. It is sold at as low a price as you can afford to pay for an Ethyl gasoline.

BROKERS CHANGE ATTITUDE TOWARD WOMEN INVESTORS

Most Women Are Careful, but Know How to Take Losses, Experts Notice

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press

New York—The attitude of Wall Street brokers, and of the financial district generally, toward women shoving into the stock market has changed decidedly. Today the unflinching report is that women have behaved sensibly, that they have shown shrewdness and competence in investing, and that they have been quite as sportsmanlike as men in taking losses.

When the present big bulge in prices began to appear, about three years ago, most brokerage offices were frank in saying that they "did not encourage women opening accounts." The accepted view was that women would insist on stocks that wouldn't ravel or shrink and that they would be apt to make trouble if the bright colors on the stock certificate began to fade. There was also the supposition that women having insurance or legacies were apt to venture into the market without sufficient technical knowledge.

With the first sharp upward trend with the public crowding in, all over the country, there was apparently some ground for this view, but women investors of this type were shaken out by two or three passing storms and there remains a feminine representation on the market which asks no odds from men in chasing the elusive eighth of a cent.

This is partly attributed to the fact that in the large cities, there are many thousands of women in business and the professions who have been trained by years of discipline in important affairs, and who know their way about in the financial world.

WOMEN ARE CAREFUL

There are many women executives of bank and trust companies and holders of responsible positions in stores, factories and mercantile establishments who are merely amused at the old superstition regarding women's naive ignorance of money affairs. So far as "technical knowledge" is concerned, there are innumerable speculators who are not exactly giant intellects but who have cleaned up. On the whole the comparison between men and women with regard to the thrifty habit of learning something about a stock before buying it, is somewhat in favor of the latter.

"Did you ever watch a woman buy a piece of dress goods?" asked a veteran Wall Street broker. "She mopes a bit of the raveling with her tongue, then she tells her something or other. Then she takes it to the sunlight and gives it a long once over. Then she counts the strands and gives it a few hard yanks. She then puts the clerk on the pan, as to whether it's real wool and whether

CONFECTIONERS TALK ABOUT CIGARET BATTLE

Washington—(AP)—The side of the argument which makes its point with the statement that "you can't eat a cigarette" is receiving considerable attention among the American retail confectioners delegates in convention here.

They set aside part of their time today for a formal discussion of the controversy which has grown out of the advertising appeal of a cigarette manufacturer to reach for one of its products "instead of a sweet."

"We wouldn't even like it," one delegate remarked in lobby talk, "if the slogan was, 'reach for a cigarette instead of a sweetie!'"

Nevada was listed in statistics presented to the confectioners as having the sweetest tooth of any state, consuming 17 pounds of candy for each inhabitant last year. Montana followed with 16 pounds, Illinois with 15, and Delaware, North Dakota and Vermont with 14.

The anonymous author of the statistics predicted that "if prohibition were actually enforced it would probably result in a greater per capita consumption of candy."

er they'll take it back if it doesn't stand the gaff.

"A man takes a look at two or three samples and says 'that one looks pretty good, Joe. Make me up a suit of that.' Men and women buy stocks in somewhat the same way. On the whole, I think the grandest suckers are men. We have the account of one woman who badgers me to death, wanting to know all about earning power and weighted averages and all that, every time she shoots a few hundred dollars. I give you my word that every time she buys a stock she knows more about it than the president of the company.

"There are, of course, a great many women who move in without knowing what they are doing, but that goes for men too. I have not noticed that women yell any louder than men when they take a loss. It seems to me that customer ownership has done a lot to educate women in financial affairs.

This bit of electric light or telephone stock becomes a family affair and the housewife knows all about the set-up before they take the plunge. I predict that in a few years this talk about women buying stock because it is tied with a blue ribbon will sound foolish—it does already."

There is in New York one brokerage house maintained for women customers, but on the whole the trend is away from, rather than toward discrimination in handling women's accounts. Their patronage generally is taken as a matter of course and the women investors are taking their place in the Wall Street line-up in an off-hand way. There is as yet only one woman broker, although there are a number of women handling customers' accounts for brokers. Last year a young woman bought a seat on the stock exchange for $300,000, but the board of governors later disapproved the sale. This is one citadel which the women have not yet taken.

U. W. FROSH KNOW MORE ENGLISH NOW

High school Students Better Prepared Today, Instructor Believes

Madison—(AP)—High school pupils, who enter the University of Wisconsin, are considerably better prepared in English than they were 12 years ago, according to Miss C. R. Wood, instructor in the English department, who has just completed a survey.

The practice of demoting to a sub-freshman class those first year students who are found to be deficient in English began at the University of Wisconsin as early as 1910.

"Since 1917, the percentage of freshmen demoted to sub-freshman classes has decreased from 13 to less than 6. I am sure that the standard of the English department has not been lowered. It is obvious that new students are coming to the university better equipped in English than there were," Miss Wood says.

In 1917-18 the figures show that 1,057 freshmen were demoted—15 per cent in 1919-20, 254 of the 1,199—12 per cent; 1920-21, 217 of the 1,072—20.25 per cent; 1921-22, 198 of the 1,658—12 per cent.

In 1922-23, 161 of the 1,479 freshmen were placed in sub-freshman classes—10.88 per cent; 1923-24, 153 of the 1,738—8.81 per cent; 1924-25, 124 of the 1,639—7.56 per cent—1925-26, 115 of the 1,578—7.29 per cent; 1926-27, 130 of the 1,922—6.76 per cent; 1927-28, 139 of the 2,341—5.93 per cent.

This year only 110 of the 1936 freshmen who entered the university were demoted to the sub-freshman classes—not quite 6 per cent.

The term of 1918-19 was not included in the statistics compiled by Miss Wood because it was an abnormal year.

The report also shows that 38 machines were reported recovered during the month. Four of those recovered were taken in Oshkosh and one in Green Bay.

BUY WHERE YOU CAN GET QUALITY MEATS AT A SAVING. REMEMBER, WE HAVE ONLY ONE GRADE AND ONE PRICE!

Word has come to us from some of our new patrons that an Appleton Market with whom they had been trading, were misleading the public in their window display prices. A low grade meat would be represented by such a display, but if you would want reasonably fair meat you would have to pay the higher price.

We urge you to witness the crowds in our markets, and this alone will convince you that we are giving quality at a low price and only one grade and one price. NEW, NOVEL PLANS ARE APPEARING IN WEDDING PARTIES

Gay Colors Add Their Magic Touch to Affairs for June Brides

BY JULIA BLANCHARD
New York—April showers may or may not bring the May flowers that the old adage promises. But May showers inevitably bring a lot of gifts that June brides will appreciate tremendously.

Bridal showers are one tradition that no one wants discontinued. They are such fun to get ready. And everyone enjoys them so much. Perhaps this pleasure lies in the fact that showers are essentially intimate. Only friends indulge in them. Everything about them is so personal.

Showers are seldom run as surprise parties in this modern age. But the hostess can have a surprise in the ingenuity with which she presents the bride-to-be with the gifts. Umbrellas above the table that will rain down lovely trifles are always a pretty and logical decoration. Little place cards of umbrellas standing on candy or nut boxes are good with these. Cornucopias, bells, ships or other figures that contain gifts are good, too. The decorated table in pretty colors is usually one main feature of the shower.

NOVELTY IN SHOWERS
One of the newest showers that demands an especial type of decoration is the clothes-line shower. Contrary to its name, it merely means friends can bring anything that washes and irons. It is a miscellaneous shower. A cute way to arrange this is to have a real clothes line hung up across the dining room, with all the gifts on it. Place cards, favors, decorations and everything can play up clothes pins, and other features of wash day. The bride should be given a clothes basket to put her gifts into.

A new and very novel shower this season is the smoking shower. Smoking jacket, lounging pajamas, slippers, ash trays, fancy color face, colored matches, lighters, cigar holder and other smoking equipment is appropriate. Bridge showers are not so new, but are interesting. Score pads, cards, bridge table covers, table number and pencil contrivances, pottery dishes and linen appropriately decorated with card figures all are in order.

The beauty shower is acceptable to most brides. Choice powder, rouge, lipstick, perfumery, week-end beauty kits and colored crystal containers for the dressing table make a very pretty shower. In matters this personal, guests should consult the hostess who will know the bride-to-be's favorites in beauty articles.

Bathroom showers are glorious things today, with the wealth of color and flowered things that bath-

CHARGE MENASHA MAN GAVE WORTHLESS CHECK

William Bentle, Jr., Menasha, pleaded guilty in municipal court at Oshkosh Thursday of passing a worthless check. His trial was set for June 20 and a jury will be drawn on June 18. The information charges that he issued a check of $100 to the Menasha Wholesale company, Aug. 14, 1928. The check was drawn on the First National bank of Menasha and was issued with intent to defraud, it is charged.

ASK POLICE TO SEEK STOLEN OCONTO AUTO
Police here have been asked to watch for an Oakland coupe, 1928 model, stolen Thursday night at Oconto. The machine had serial number 67140 and engine number 59926. It is believed to have been taken by Elmer Swingle, 27, who was released two weeks ago from the Green Bay reformatory, police said. Swingle weighs 175, is about five feet, 10 inches tall and wore a blue suit.

rooms inspire. Scented salts, delicate perfumed soaps, colorful bottles of lotions, pastel shaded towels, washrags and mats, printed shower curtains and window curtains, colored hampers and so on are there to choose.

Wardrobe or clothes closet showers are gala things now, what with little colored flowers for hatbands, birds for shoes, trees colored cretonne or calico for dress, shoe, laundry and lingerie bags and a multitude of printed or plain colored boxes for whatnots. Book showers are the bride's taste in books. Cleaning showers are wonderful if guests club together and get a vacuum cleaner, and varieties of brushes and other gadgets that are acceptable.

Brides who will live in an apartment house must have especial consideration. A modern shower is good for them. One guest may bring a lampshade, others ash trays, vases, pottery breakfast or tea things, a footstool, and perhaps a cactus in a modern dish, trimmed very modernly to represent some animal. Soft pillow showers are excellent for the apartment house bride, provided her color schemes are known. Colored linen showers are good for her, too, with different colored sheets, pillow cases and towels stressed.

OLD-FASHIONED SHOWERS
Silver, linen, crystal, kitchen and all the other old-fashioned showers are as good now as ever. One simply buys modern versions.

A new touch to showers this May is the magic touch of color. Refreshments now match the linen on which they are served, the candles that light the tables, the decorative crepe paper and the ornaments or flowers that center the table. A green shower, for instance, may serve for luncheon chicken and green pepper patties with parsley sprinkled over it all for color, an avocado salad and pistache ice cream or a mint ice with cake ice in green and coffee.

COLLAR BATTLE IS CENTERING ABOUT PRESIDENTS NECK

Hoover Adheres to Starched Neckwear Except When Exercising

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—It may or may not be news that the soft collar industry and the stiff collar industry are engaged in a large propaganda war for the privilege of clothing the national neck.

Once upon a time nearly all males wore starched collars, and the soft collars were so wrinkly and sloppy that the well-dressed man simply wasn't having any. But soft collars or semi-soft collars were developed which looked very well and were still comfortable and these began to have a very large sale.

The people who make starched collars finally began to fight back with intensive national propaganda to the effect that the snappy, well-groomed man still wore starched collars and that soft collars were still abhorred in the best circles. Apparently the other collar interests are now launching counter propaganda to offset all that.

The war has lately been centering on the neck of President Herbert Hoover. The president has always worn very high stiff collars and the hard collar publicists were quick to seize upon that fact and exploit it.

Recently, however, the soft collar enthusiasts got busy. Thus one reads that Hoover has set a splendid example to all men who are slaves to fashionable customs; that he "wears a soft shirt and a soft turned down collar in preference to the boiler-plate casings dictated by hoary precedent."

Inquiry around the White House develops the fact that the president wears a shirt with soft collar attached while tossing the old medicine ball each morning, but at all other times he sticks to starch. The starched collar industry is willing to admit that soft collars will sometimes do for sports.

Speaking of the daily session of the Hoover "medicine ball cabinet" recalls the recent widely published story to the effect that other members of that body were rather resentful of the fact that Justice Harlan Fiske Stone was throwing the ball altogether too hard. Justice Stone, the complaint was, ought to use a little more discretion.

One hears, however, that the feeling about Justice Stone's powerful heaves was not shared by President Hoover or by more than one of the other heavies. It appears that the only complaining sufferer was a distinguished newspaperman of great prestige

THREE PARKING LAW OFFENDERS ARE FINED

Three violators of city parking ordinances paid fines of $1 and costs each when they pleaded guilty to charges against them before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Friday morning. Fred Stumpf, 1628 N. Appleton-st. was fined for double parking on E. Washington-st. near the post office; William Olson 1393 W. Winnebago-st., and Frank McGowan, 104 E. College-ave. were fined for parking more than 90 minutes on College-ave. Stumpf was arrested by Gus Hersekorn, motorcycle officer, and McGowan and Olson were arrested by Officer Lester Van Roy.

PRAIRIE DU SAC MAN TO PREACH IN CITY
The Rev. Fred Trautman of Prairie Du Sac will preach the sermon at Emanuel Evangelical church Sunday morning in the absence of the Rev. J. F. Nienstedt, who is attending the annual conference of Evangelical churches of Wisconsin at Ripon. The Rev. Mr. Trautman is a brother of John Trautman of this city.

but very slender build. When Justice Stone, in his unrestrained and exuberant enthusiasm, hurled the big sphere at this "cabinet" member it was almost a case of an irresistible force meeting an all too movable object.

Craftily and probably with malice aforethought, this newspaperman tipped off correspondents covering the White House that all was not well with the "cabinet" because Justice Stone didn't appear to know his own strength. It is now understood that the judicial conscience has been more or less stricken and that the justice tempers his steam in accordance with the direction of his heave.

If everyone were as courteous and discreet as Mr. Edward Everett Gann, the husband of Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, the vice president's hostess, things would be more comfortable for Mr. Gann.

Unfortunately, all Washington social functions of any size these days include a large number of persons who insist on talking among themselves, freely and frankly, about Mrs. Gann and the social war of which she was recently the heroine.

Unfortunately, also, a great many persons in Washington do not know Mr. Gann or what he looks like. So Mr. Gann is often likely to hear plenty and some of the things that are said are calculated to make him sore, despite his sense of humor.

Two or three stories are already kicking around Washington of alleged occasions when other guests spoke up without supposing Mr. Gann was anywhere near.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL TEACHERS ARRANGE PLANS FOR SUMMER

Eight Will Attend University and College Summer Sessions

Appleton Vocational school teachers are laying their plans for the summer. Many already have made arrangements to attend summer school at various institutions while several teachers will remain in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Helle, W. R. Chaloner and Clyde Cavert will attend the seven week summer session at the Colorado Agricultural college at Fort Collins, Colo. Following the session they will motor to the west coast, returning by way of Canada. Mr. Helle will teach a course at the agricultural school.

Those who expect to attend the summer sessions at the University of Wisconsin are James Chadek, M. M. Hansen, M. W. Smith and Mrs. Bertha Barry. Mr. Chadek will study economics and art drawing. H. G. Noyes, itinerant coordinator of the pulp and paper industry at the local school, will stay in Appleton to prepare the 1229-30 trade industrial courses. Carl Bertram, administrator, will take the summer courses at the University of Minnesota. He expects to receive his degree.

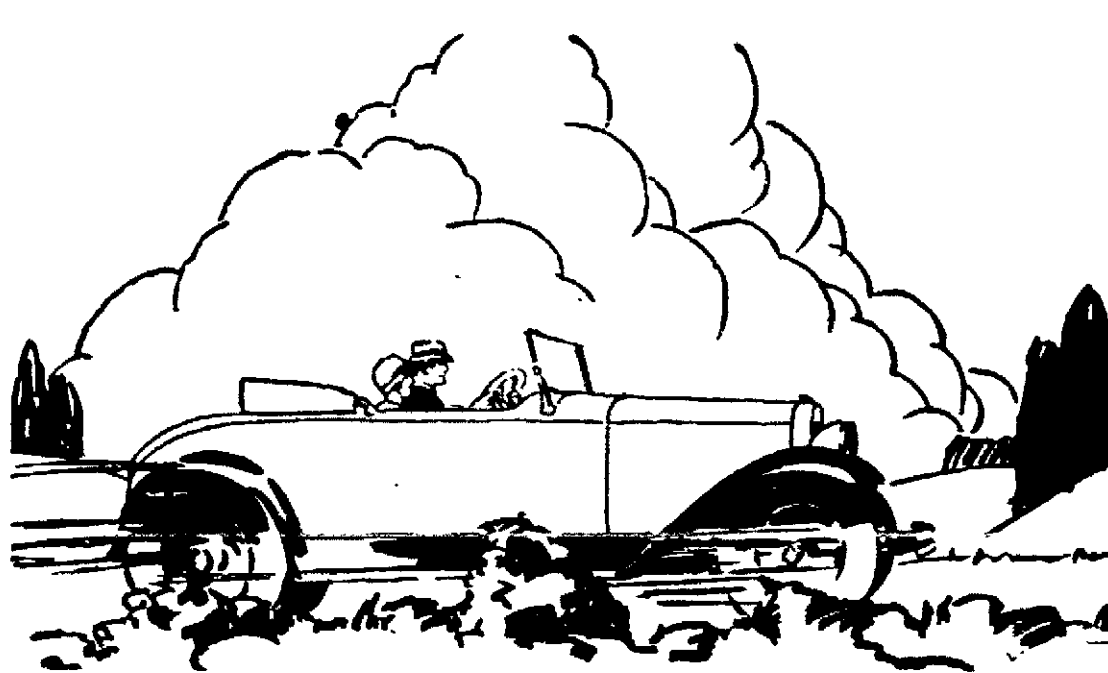

Miss Pansy Tasch will attend a nine weeks session at Stout Institute where she expects to receive a degree. Jack Notebaa, instructor in the printing department, will be employed in a commercial plant at St. Paul, Minn.

APPLETON MAN PRESIDES AT ROTARY BREAKFAST
Wausau—(AP)—The district Rotary conference is to elect officers here today. Three candidates, two of them from northern Wisconsin and one from Michigan, have been named for the presidency of the organization.

They are Ray Emmons, Gladstone, Mich.; F. J. Jordan, Rice Lake, Wis., and Walter B. Chilsen, Merrill, Wis., publisher of the Merrill Daily Herald.

Approximately 1,000 delegates were here today to participate in the voting. Most of them arrived yesterday, the first day of the conference, and attended a musical entertainment and dance at Rothschild park last night. Dan Brownell, Ashland, district governor, was master of ceremonies.

Special breakfasts were served this morning for past and present secretaries and presidents, with Theodore Moyle, Appleton, and Harlow Clark, Marquette, Mich., presiding.

THRILL TO THE LURE OF THE OPEN ROAD

Buy a Good Used Car

It won't be long now until the lure of the open road will "get" you — you'll be wishing —

Instead of thinking about your business you'll be seeking information regarding tourist camps — garages and the like. YES, you'll be wanting to go somewhere — get away for awhile.

Ask the wife "where shall we go?" But — when you decide where to go you'll discover (if you're like the rest of us) your pocket book says "NO!" Why, the tickets alone cost more than you can allow for the entire trip.

Things look mighty blue — then the wife says "Why not buy a used car like the Smith's did last year? They took a trip — and when they returned, remember how enthusiastic, healthy and happy they were?"

That's a bright idea — and it has saved the vacation trip for many a family. You'd better be glancing through the "Automobiles For Sale" Classified Ads in this paper and get yours NOW while there are so many to select from.

EASING CREDIT IS RESPONSIBLE FOR MARKET ADVANCES

Score of Issues Reach New High Ground for Year; Call Rate Drops

BY STANLEY W. FRENOSIL
Associated Press Staff Writer

New York—(AP)—Favorable developments in the credit situation provided the background for a general advance in prices in today's stock market. Buying orders were distributed over a fairly broad list, a sprinkling of high priced specialties soaring six to nearly fifteen points, while a long line of industrials and public utilities moved up 1 to 5 points. A score or more issues moved into new high ground for the year.

Retention of the 5 per cent rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve bank; an increase in the reserve ratio of 73.9 per cent, or 7.2 per cent above the same date last year; when loans were about a billion dollars below the present total; an increase of only $14,000,000 in brokers' loans last week and a drop from 8 to 6 per cent in call money all helped to revive bullish sentiment which had been badly shaken by the flurry in call money rates earlier in the week. Trading was only moderately heavy in volume, tending to confirm reports that Arthur W. Cullen and other large operators temporarily had withdrawn from active participation in the market. High carrying charges on marginal accounts have had a restraining effect on speculative operations for the advance.

Several of the high priced specialties were buoyant. Burroughs Adding Machine ran up nearly 13 points to 214. General Electric 11 1/2 to 22 1/2. Otis Elevator 1 1/4 to 24 1/4. International Business Machines 7 1/4 to 19 1/4. Sparks Withington 5 1/4 to 24 1/4, all new high records. Public utilities moved upward under the leadership of Detroit Edison and Columbia Gas and Electric and North American, all of which reached new high ground, on buying influenced by reports of expanding earnings. American Water Works ran up nearly seven points, while Chesapeake and Potomac Electric Power Co. advanced 4 1/2 points. Chesapeake and Potomac Electric Power Co. advanced 4 1/2 points. Chesapeake and Potomac Electric Power Co. advanced 4 1/2 points.

Except for an initial spurt of 3 1/4 points in Union Pacific, the rails failed to participate extensively in the upswing. A few issues including Oliver Farm Equipment, Cullen, Cullen Preferred and Kinney, sank to new low levels or the year. Fidelity-Phoenix Insurance broke nearly five points and International Telephone four.

Nearly every stock felt the influence of substantial buying orders in the last hour and the usual week end realizing was not noticeable as several new favorites were pushed up 6 points. General Electric rose as high as 23 1/2. St. Joseph Lead, Columbia, Graphophone, Pan American B, National Dairy Products, Borg Warner and Stromberg Carborator were among the largest gainers. The close was strong. Sales approximated 3,200,000 shares.

LITTLE INTEREST IN BOND MARKET TODAY

$3,031,000, total sales. $3,188,000, previous day. $2,088,000 week ago. $1,751,000, year ago. $93,588,000, Jan. 1 to date. $3,274,000, same year ago. $4,720,000, same two years ago.

New York—(AP)—Interest in the bond market was at a low ebb in today's trading. High grade securities, especially the rails, were being picked up here and there through the list, but turnovers were small and there was no indication that any large accumulation was under way in the face of continued uneasiness over credit and money.

Although the convertibles, as usual, attracted virtually all of the attention, the volume of transactions in most of the stock privilege securities was small. American Telephone 4 1/2 was sold rather freely despite a dip to their low at 120 5/8 on a decline in the shares. Missouri Pacific 5 1/2, which were leading the market early in the week, picked up more than half a point as the shares advanced slightly, but the number of bonds sold was relatively small.

In the rail group, favorites were New York Central 4 1/2, which rose nearly two points on fair buying, while Delaware & Hudson Refunding 4 1/2 responded to small inquiry by jumping 1 3/4. Among the speculative rails, Seaboard Air Line Refunding 4 1/2 sold off by a large fraction. Lorillard Debenture 5 1/2 and 5 3/4 gave evidence of continued interest in tobacco securities, on both the stock and bonds division of the exchange. The first named issue was up 1 1/2 on a liberal turnover, while the 5 3/4 picked up a full point.

The foreign sugars met with selling which sent Cuban Sugar Convertible 7 1/2 and Cuban Sugar 7 1/2 to new lows at 60 and 59 respectively. Interest in the foreign section of the list was slight. German Republic 7 1/2 and French 7 1/2 and 7 3/4 advanced approximately half a point in reflection of optimistic views of the reparations situation. United States government bonds were in small demand and were irregularly lower.

LIBERTY BONDS

Liberty Bonds—4 1/2 to 50 1/2. Liberty Bonds—4 1/2 to 50 1/2. Liberty Bonds—4 1/2 to 50 1/2. Liberty Bonds—4 1/2 to 50 1/2.

DECLINE IN HOG MARKET CHECKED

Trade Is Generally Steady to 10 Cents Higher in Spots

Chicago—(AP)—The decline in the hog market here which yesterday reached the lowest levels for the season was checked today and the trade was generally steady to 10 cents higher in spots. Volume receipts were in line with expectations and together with the sale contingency of 7,000 made a total of 29,000 available, however packers claimed 2,500 of this number on direct billings. Considerable trading was reported at 10.50 to 10.90.

Nebraska steers featured the trade in the cattle alleys with some of these animals going as high as 14.50. Others sold from 14.00 downward, and there were not many under 13.00. Butcher stock, hogs and calves were sold on a steady scale. Quality was poor for the general run of cattle and the total supply was held to less than 2,000 matured cattle and barely 1,000 calves. Sheep buyers held off until a late hour before buying in the open market. They were bearish and wanted concession, and in most instances secured slight ones. Best wool lambs were quotable up to 15.00, while it was practically impossible to get over 13.75 for shorn lambs.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

Chicago—(U. S. D. A.)—Hogs receipts 13,000 including 2,500 direct mostly steady on weight averages under 220 lb. hogs strong to 10 cents higher top $11.00 bulk of better grades 160 to 250 lb. weights 10.60 to 11.00.

HEAVY SALES AND FEW BUYERS SEND WHEAT PRICES DOWN

Reports of Heavy 1929 Canadian Crop Helps to Weaken Market

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago—(AP)—Nearly 3c a bushel collapse in wheat prices today resulted from a broadening out of selling and a deficiency of buying. Reports current pointed to likelihood that the 1929 Canadian wheat crop will exceed that of last year, the total wheat acreage in Canada being announced today as larger than the 1928 total. Word was also received that Germany's wheat needs are being supplied from Argentina, where ample wheat is reported available to furnish good-sized shipments until the end of December.

Wheat May 10.34. Last Sept. 12.05. Bellies May 12.50, July 19.32, Sept. 13.57. In the corn market today, Sept. and Dec. were selling at a new low price record for the crop, showing a decline of around 2c from yesterday's finish. Generally fair weather prevailed over the corn belt, with temperature somewhat higher, but the forecast was "warmer and cooler." Frost was expected tonight in parts of the west. Cash demand was fairly good, and the spot basis up about 1/4c. Receipts were light. Oats were influenced by other grain, and prices averaged lower. All deliveries of rye sold at a new bottom level for the season.

Provisions were easier on account of scattered liquidation in yard. All deliveries of wheat dropped to 1/4c below any price level heretofore reached this season. Dearth of buying tempted a bear raid, the effects of which were intensified as a result of execution of many orders given that commission houses sell out when ever necessary to put a stop to excessive loss and disappointing purchases made of late.

Wheat closed heavy, 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 lower (May 10.01, July 10.50, Sept. 10.90 to 1 1/2, Dec. 11.44 to 10 1/2). Corn 1 1/2 to 2 1/4 down (May .84, July .86 to 1/2, Sept. .88 to 1/2, Dec. .89 to 1/2). Oats finished 1/4 to 1/2 off (May .46 to 1/2, July .44, Sept. .43, Dec. .44) and provisions unchanged to a setback of 1/2c.

GENERAL MOTORS CO. IN AIRPLANE FIELD

Takes Over Controlling Interest in Fokker Aircraft Corporation

New York—(AP)—The general Motors corporation today was in virtual control of the Fokker Aircraft Corporation, making it the third large automobile company to enter the airplane field.

Purchase of 400,000 shares of common stock of the Fokker corporation, representing a 40 per cent interest, was announced by general Motors. The remaining 60 per cent is scattered.

The transaction gives General Motors a position in the airplane field equal to that of the Ford interests. Its principal rival in the automobile field, The Ford company, through the Ford Motor division, has been manufacturing tri-motored motor planes for some time. The Packard Motor Car company has been experimenting for months with the Diesel oil burning airplane engine, the first successful demonstration of which took place this week.

In payment for the Fokker stock General Motors turned over to the airplane company all the capital stock of the Dayton-Wright company, which consists of the Dayton-Wright company, a number of valuable patents and cash assets of approximately $5,500,000.

The Fokker company has plants at Teterboro, N. J., Passaic, N. J., and Glendale, N. J., with a fourth plant planned for the Pacific coast. Anthony H. G. Fokker, a large stockholder in the concern, will continue in charge of engineering and design. Fokker planes have been in many notable flights in recent years, including the Byrd Trans-Atlantic, Arctic and Antarctic flights; the Trans-Atlantic flight of Amelia Earhart, the Maitland-Hawthorn flight and the endurance flight of the army plane, Question Mark.

BUSINESS MEN TO STRESS ECONOMY AT CONFERENCE

State-wide Gathering Will Be Held May 27 at Badger University

Madison —(AP)—Economy in business will be the theme of a state-wide business men's conference to be held here by the University of Wisconsin May 27, according to Prof. W. H. Kieckhefer, general chairman.

Alfred P. Haake, managing director of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers, who will address the session on cutting the costs of distribution. He has developed a method of overhead expense distribution which has enabled many dealers to increase net profits without penalizing the consumer. It is stated.

Recalled to the business field after an unusual career as a student and professor at Wisconsin and other leading universities, Mr. Haake became assistant to the president of Simmons Co., in charge of sales before taking his present post.

Charles Coolidge Parlin, Philadelphia, who will address the session, has established fundamental principles of customer buying habits in his commercial research work with the Saturday Evening Post, the announcement states. Under his direction field studies have been conducted and reports made on many basic industries and lines of distribution.

Edward M. Skinner, Chicago, vice president and general manager of Wilson Bros., will speak at the afternoon session of the conference which will be largely devoted to the merchandising methods and economies introduced through the chain store system of retailing.

Mr. Skinner, a native of Oshkosh, went to Chicago as a young man and entered the credit department of Wilson Bros., later becoming credit manager. His hobby for years has been helping retail merchants to improve their methods and increase their profits.

Ralph E. Heilman is known both as a speaker and as a writer on public utilities and industrial management. Grounds for Summer

Sparta —(AP)—Units of the second battalion, third field artillery from Ft. Sheridan, Ill., and Jefferson Barracks, Mo., are now at Camp McCoy, near here, and have added activity in preparation for the summer training camps to be conducted there. Regular army troops, National Guard units from Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota and Iowa, Reserve officers from 15 of the middle western states and U. S. Army cadets from the Universities of Illinois, Chicago, and C. M. T. C. cadets from Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan will be trained during the summer.

The training of the various components is under direction of Col. H. R. Perry, infantry, detached officers of the line, who has entered upon his fourth season in command of Camp McCoy.

Service practice by the regular army commenced this week. Three inch guns with a maximum range of over five miles are being used, with machine guns for anti-aircraft firing, and pistols for short range training. The firing season will close about Sept. 15 with maneuvers conducted by the 14 cavalry from Ft. Sheridan.

Construction work on new buildings and roads is continuing as funds permit. The new water supply system is expected to be completed about June 15. The camp is being up under a progressive schedule extending over a period of five years. As rapidly as the various areas are built up, steps are being taken to provide for the beautification of the entire camp area by planting trees.

Recreational activities planned for this year call for motion pictures each Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings in the war department theater. The first showing will be

400 High School Track Athletes Meet Here Saturday

ANNUAL LAWRENCE MEET DRAWS YOUTHS FROM 40 SCHOOLS

Appleton Track and Field Squad Competes With Milwaukeeans

HIGH school athletes from all over the state will flock into Appleton late Friday and early Saturday to begin an assault on all known high school track records, at the fifth annual running of the Lawrence college track meet.

The meet is scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock, rain or shine. More than 400 athletes are expected to compete in the various events and will represent the best talent in more than 40 state high schools. The number of entries this year is nearly double the number last season and makes the Lawrence meet the second largest in the state, being surpassed only by that of the university of Wisconsin.

Appleton interest will center about Appleton high school entries and, perhaps, before the day's activity is over, the Orange may have copied a couple new records. Appleton is entered in all events for class A schools and will compete against athletes from six Milwaukee schools and from Wausau. The meet gives the entire Orange squad a chance to meet the cream of state track athletes, first class opposition.

There also are 28 class B schools entered in their meet which begins in the morning and because of the large entry list, a flock of officials have been called on by Coach Clarence H. Rasmussen to direct the events. Coach Rasmussen is handling all details of the meet.

With Mayor A. C. Rule issuing a proclamation asking Appleton people and businessmen to display flags and decorate their windows and homes, Saturday's program will see the largest gathering of high school athletes ever to come to Appleton. The mayor also is asking that citizens do every thing in their power to extend a hearty welcome to the youngsters and to see they are royally entertained.

Plans of college authorities to entertain the students call for a buffet luncheon at fraternity houses at noon and a banquet in the evening at which awards will be made. It is expected that more than 800 athletes will be entertained at the banquet.

George Downer, sports editor of a Milwaukee newspaper will be referee and starter at the meet, according to plans for Coach Rasmussen. Other officials are timers, F. W. Clippinger, Werner Witte, Arthur Jensen, John Mills and John Farley; finish judges, Charles Pond, Leland Delorge, Pat MacAndrews, Leigh Hooley, Ray Montelth, Gordon Pope, and George Neider; pole vault judge, W. E. Rogers; high jump, A. E. Burge; broad jump, C. C. Bailey; shot put, discus and javelin judges, George Cooper, William Bickel, Joseph Trepanit, Paul Miller; clerk of course, Carl Voecks; scorer, Jack Williams; head inspector, Eddie Kotia.

BREWERS AT K. C. FOR WESTERN SERIES

Windup Home Stay With 4 to 3 Victory Over Toledo Mud Hens

BY PAUL R. MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Chicago—(P)—Successful in their first skirmishes with eastern contingents, western teams Friday prepared to lay down a barrage of base hits against each other for stronger salutes in the war for the American association pennant.

Kansas City, entrenched in first place by a single game margin, opened its fight at home against Milwaukee's rejuvenated Milwaukee Brewers, while Minneapolis and St. Paul, perennial rivals in everything, faced each other in the Saints' stronghold at Lexington Park.

It took Kansas City 12 innings to hand Columbus a trimming Thursday. Myers, string bean Columbus hurler, and Nelson of the Kaws engaged in an even mound duel until the twelfth frame when McCann fumbled Grigsby's infield poke while the bases were choked, giving Kansas City a 2 to 1 tie.

The Kansas City victory was well timed as its nearest rival, Minneapolis, was crushed by Indianapolis. The Indians lashed up 13 hits off four Miller pitchers and won, 10 to 1, thus giving Minneapolis its first series defeat of the season.

Louisville broke its eight-game losing streak Thursday by blasting out 6 to 4 victory over St. Paul, while Milwaukee defeated Toledo, 4 to 3. Ross Ryan hung up his fifth victory of the season in the game.

President J. J. Eickley has decided to separate Larry Goetz and George Johnson, who have been calling strikes together for the past five years. Hereafter, Goetz will work with Charles McCafferty and Johnson will pair with Frank Brown. Eickley said he was satisfied with their umpiring but that it was customary to switch the arbiters about.

America Banks on Young Team in Cup Play

UNCLE SAM'S TILDENLESS DAVIS CUP TEAM GOES INTO THE FIRST ROUND PLAY WITH THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR VICTORY RESTING ON THE SHOULDERS OF THESE THREE YOUNG MEN.

BY TED YOSBURGH
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK—(P)—One of the youngest Davis cup teams in American tennis history will take the court against Canada at Montreal, May 16, 17 and 18. The players average less than 25 years of age, 24½ to be exact.

Not since Big Bill Tilden, then 23, and Little Bill Johnston, 24, sailed forth in 1920 to capture the cup from the Australians and carry it into a Babylonian captivity has the United States rested its tennis hopes upon so young a team.

While there may be no Tildens or Johnstons among this 1929 array of the new Big Four appears amply able to fight its way past the Canadians in the forthcoming American zone opener. In fact most followers of tennis will be more than a little surprised if the youngsters do not flatten the Japanese and the survivors of the Cuba-Mexico tie, as well as win their way to Europe, where Tilden and Frank Hunter, may or may not be called upon to join the colors.

The patriarch of the American quartet this is smiling Johnny Hennessey, The Indianapolis wizard is 23, Wilmer Allison, of Port Worth, is 24 and Johnny Van Ryn, Orange, N. J., is tied with George Lott, Chicago at 23.

Incidentally is to play only in event of an emergency, meaning, presumably that he will be called upon for a hurried trip from his studies in Chicago if the American cause at Montreal encounters unexpected reverses is expected.

Of the four, only Van Ryn has had no previous Davis cup experience. Lott and Hennessey went with the team to France last summer, although Tilden's last minute decision to play himself and Frank Hunter in the doubles relegated George to a "water boy" role, as he described it.

Allison played in the American zone tie against Mexico but Van Ryn, intent upon getting a Prince ton degree, was not out for the team seriously until this year.

HERBER, LIETHEN LOOK GOOD DURING U. W. GRID GAME

Former Bay Star Wins Commendation With Passing, Punting

Madison—The rival Army and Navy teams, made up of members of the University of Wisconsin spring football squad that battled to a 6-6 tie in a regulation game Tuesday, will meet again at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon in another game.

Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite has decided. Each eleven is eager to prove its superiority and another hard fought contest is expected.

Several of the veterans from last year's eleven, notably George Casey, Milt Gantenbein and Lew Smith, at the ends, Capt. John Parks, at guard, and Harold Rehbohl, Tury Oman and Bill Sheehan in the backfield performed in their old fashion in the Tuesday's game.

Russ Rehbohl, brother of the varsity fullback, who played with the Navy, mixed runs and passes for long gains. He proved himself an effective open field runner and his 20 yards pass to Gantenbein resulted in the Navy score. Arnold Herber, the Green Bay freshman played a similar game for the Army team.

Casey scored the army touchdown by intercepting a pass and galloping 40 yards across the goal line. The coaches kept a steady stream of substitutes marching in and out of the game.

Among the recruits who impressed some 1,600 fans gathered on the sidelines were "Buck" Herperin and Greg Kabat, fullback; Nello Pacetti, and Wm. Exum, halfbacks, and Walter Graebner and Pipp Nelson, quarterbacks.

In the line of life to tackles looked especially promising. They are "Moose" Krueger, Dave Tobias, and Harold Smith, the Freeport, Ill., yearling. Guards were Baer, Dean, Franklin, and Swiderski, while Simmons and Liethen went well at center and Jensen proved the best of the recruit ends.

The younger Rehbohl won the annual punting competition, with a long boot of 83 yards, 1 ft. 3 in. Coach Thistlethwaite announced, Herber was second with a kick of just over 63 yards, with Hal Rehbohl and Kabat next in order.

Jensen, the former Lake Forest star, won the 50 dash for linemen, with Casey, Tobias, and Hanson finishing in the order named. Casey proved to be the best blocker among the linemen, Lew Smith, was second, and two other ends, Jensen and Gantenbein, got the next two places.

Russ Rehbohl and Herber tied in the forward passing contest, with Pacetti third and Gnanah, the tall Chicago fullback, fourth.

CHANGE TEE ON EIGHTH HOLE AT MUNI COURSE

Work has been started on a new tee for the eighth hole at the municipal golf course which will shorten the hole about 25 yards and also eliminate the possibility of players on the green being hit with drivers of persons following them. The hole formerly was about 175 yards long the drive being over the edge of a hill to the green below. A person making the drive was unable to see the green and when the course was crowded groups were always driving into one another. The new tee will eliminate the hazard. The new tee is to the right of the old one about 25 yards forward.

VALUABLE COLT HURT WHEN IT RUNS AWAY

New York—(P)—New Broom, the colt by Whisk Broom 2nd-payer, for which C. V. B. Cushman paid a new record price of $75,000, has been badly injured in training. The colt became frightened while working over a training track at Belmont park, Thursday, unsaddled the exercise boy who was riding him and crashed through the fence. The colt suffered injuries to the fore legs and shoulder. He was led to the stable quite lame but the exact extent of his injuries has not yet been learned.

Blue Blood Of Horsedom Faces Barrier Saturday

All Kentucky Agog as It Prepares for Its "Day of Days"

BY ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
LOUISVILLE, Ky.,—(P)—East and West, North and South will send its blue blooded horseflesh in quest of the classic three-year-old honors of the American turf Saturday in the fifty-fifth running of the Kentucky Derby.

If, as expected, a score of thoroughbreds go to the post around 5 p. m., central standard time, the race will be worth $54,000, of which approximately $54,000 will go to the victor in the struggle of speed, stamina and courage over the route of one mile and a quarter.

The weather prospects are dubious, with the possibility it will be a fine day for the mud-runners, but rain or shine, heavy going or fast, the experts predict a "horse race" and the promoters expect a notable throng of upwards of 75,000 to jam the picturesque Churchill Downs.

Millions more are expected to tune in on the shrills of America's most colorful turf classic over a record radio hook-up for the derby, arranged by the National Broadcasting company and its associated stations.

KENTUCKY'S DAY OF DAYS

Derby day is Kentucky's day of days. Where England has a national institution in its own derby and France has its fashionably brilliant Grand Prix at Longchamps, the blue glass region has its horse race. All the color, the picturesque gathering, the blend of old traditions clings to this half-century old event but, after all, it is a horse race. No one mingling in the throngs on street corners, in the hotels, everywhere, is allowed to forget it. This year, as seldom before, Louisville has done the pilgrimages of the faithful, not only from its own hills and towns, but from far and wide.

Kentucky, as usual, has its favorite. The roar of the crowd Satur-

AL SINGER, FERNANDEZ TO MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

New York—(P)—Al Singer, young east side junior lightweight, meets Ignacio Fernandez, of the Philippines, in the head-line attraction at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Singer, regarded in some quarters as the coming champion of the 135-pounders, rates a two to one favorite to beat the Filipino. The experts believe the east side boy is too speedy and punches too fast for Fernandez. The bout is a ten round affair.

Gorilla Jones, Akron Negro, who is rapidly developing into a possible front-rank contender for the welterweight championship, meets Izzy Grove, of New York in the ten round semi-final.

HACK WILSON RECOVERS USE OF INJURED ANKLE

Chicago—(P)—Hack Wilson, heavy hitting cub outfielder was ready to take his turn at bat Friday as he team returned from the first eastern invasion. Wilson recently injured his ankle at New York.

Blue Blood Of Horsedom Faces Barrier Saturday

day will be from the heart, as well as the pocket-book, if Blue Larkspur, the pride of the Blue Grass, comes home first in the colors of the Indle Hour farm of Col. Edward R. Bradley.

Blue Larkspur has been the favorite for the derby ever since he closed a fine two-year-old season. All his conditioning has been with the big prize in mind. The Bradley organization suffered a severe blow in the loss of its chief trainer, "Dick" Thompson, now seriously ill after an operation for appendicitis Wednesday night, but there is every assurance that Blue Larkspur nevertheless will go to the post fit and ready.

BLACK SERVANT GOOD

The famous son of Black Servant, declared in any kind of going, probably will face the barrier, a 2 to 1 favorite, with Clyde Van Dusen, carrying the colors of H. P. Gardner, second choice, probably around 4 to 1, on the basis of waging reported Thursday.

Twice before, in 1921 and 1926, Colonel Bradley has seen his horses finish one-two in the derby. The chances are against a repetition of this honor Saturday but the famous Kentucky firm will attempt it by sending Bay Beauty, a son of Black Toney, for the classic.

Mishaps and disappointments have wrecked a good portion of the original derby entry list but there is every indication of keen intersectional rivalry in the field that remains. The far west pins its hopes chiefly upon Nashapur, winner of the Tijuana derby and a close second in the rich Cofrotho handicap on the Mexican track. There has been a strong drift in the last day or two toward this chestnut colt of Omar Khayyam the 1917 derby winner. Ervase is another far western candidate but the railbirds doubt whether Baron Long's entry can go the route.

The southwest is expected to have at least two contenders, probably Cal Roper, Louisiana derby winner and Pancho, both carrying the colors of the Three D's stock farm of Fort Worth. The east, not so well represented as when Whiskery and Zev were favorites, nevertheless has horses, even if somewhat faint, in the fair stable's Chicotte, the Belle Isle stable's Upeet Lad and Minotaur, runner-up in the preakness to Dr. Freeland.

FAITH IN VAN DUSEN
Kentucky and the middle west, however, present the strongest front in years against these challengers. If Blue Larkspur should disappoint, it will be no great shock to the form players to have Clyde Van Dusen romp home first, especially as this year's O'Var gelding is good in any kind of going. Kentuckians consider Clyde Van Dusen one of their own, for the colt has raced altogether in this state or Illinois, although he is owned by H. P. Gardner of Amsterdam, N. Y., on the other hand, the Nut, another highly regarded colt, is now Kentucky owned, although bred at Harry Payne Whitney's farm.

Thousands of Chicagoans, coming here in the biggest fleet of special trains from any section, will back their own favorites, particularly Karl Ettel and Willy City, "Bath House" John Coughlin, picturesque Chicago political figure, appeared to have had his hopes dimmed when his Roguish Eye went wrong recently but they have risen sharply as the result of a sparkling time trial by Karl Ettel, which covered the derby route in 2:09 2-5 two days ago and finished full of running.

Those Post-Crescent-Badger soft-ball players elated out another victory of the skin of their teeth Thursday evening when they defeated the Interlakes at Pierce park, 10 and 6. The victory was the third straight for the Printers.

Getting off to an early lead by pushing four runs across the plate in the first inning and then repeating the performance in the second the Printers soon had a lead that was hard to overcome.

But the Papermakers are a consistent gang and although they trailed by eight runs at the end of the second inning kept pecking away at Jacobson until the game ended. When that time came round they didn't have enough runs to tie the count but had thrown a scare into the Printers who had failed to do much after the big splurges.

CANUCKS BEATEN BY YANKEES IN DAVIS CUP MATCH

John Hennessey and John Van Ryn Are Singles Victors

MONTREAL—(P)—The United States team apparently has hurdled the first obstacle in its second campaign to bring back the Davis tennis cup from France. Victory Thursday in the first two singles matches in the first round American zone cup tie gave the United States a lead that the Dominion hardly can overcome. A victory in the doubles Friday or in one of the two concluding singles matches on Saturday will put the Stars and Stripes into the second round. No tennis expert, either in the United States or Canada, believes the Dominion team can make a clean sweep of the remaining three matches.

The two United States victories Thursday were turned in by John Hennessey of Indianapolis and John van Ryn of East Orange, N. J.

Van Ryn, a new comer to Davis cup play, the conquering Villard, F. Crocker, the No. 2 Canadian, in straight sets, 6-7, 6-2, 6-3. Hennessey dropped a set to Dr. Jack Wright, No. 1 Canadian, but won the match, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Both victories were decisive and were recorded under extremely adverse weather conditions from which the Americans could have been expected to suffer the most. Van Ryn had great difficulty adjusting himself to conditions in the first set but after he swept through Crocker without trouble, Hennessey had more trouble with Wright who played fine tennis but the Indianapolis player's superior steadiness gave him the match and the United States two straight victories in the tie.

For the doubles Friday Hennessey and Van Ryn will oppose Wright and Dr. Arthur Ham.

Getting off to an early lead by pushing four runs across the plate in the first inning and then repeating the performance in the second the Printers soon had a lead that was hard to overcome.

Boston Beats Giants In Two Close Games, 4-3, 5-4

Dazzy Vance Victim When Robins Lose Ninth Straight Game

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Boston—(P)—The Braves stay up there another month, they may begin to believe that they belong in the first four. At any event, Emil Fuchs seems to have taught the tribe the first principle a team must absorb to escape from the second division—the gentle art of winning the one-run games instead of losing them.

His warriors add to the woes of John McGraw Thursday by shading the Giants, 4 to 3 and 5 to 4, in a back and double-header.

What is more significant, the Braves twice came from behind to nose out McGraw's ambitious seventh-place, against Larry Benton in the opener and against no-hit Carl Hubbell in the tenth round of the nightcap. Hubbel was defeated with two out in the tenth after the Giants had given him a run in their own half. Clark's single through short and doubles by Dugan and Maguire brought his downfall.

Young Bruce Cunningham, the Pacific coast boy sent along by the Cubs as a sort of good-measure offering in the Hornsby deal, made his first major league start in the opening game and refused to be dismayed by his illustrious opponent. Art Delaney had charge of the Boston firing in the second clash and turned in as fine a game as he has shown since his arrival in the majors.

CUBS ARE IDLE
The Cardinals slipped ahead of the Cubs into the league lead by outlasting Pittsburgh in a groggy ten-round melee at Forbes field.

The champions scored one run in the ninth and another in the tenth to pull out the decision by 10 to 9. Almost everybody except Donie Bush and Bill Southworth pitched and Jim Bottomley hit two homers.

The Robins rounded out the National league program in their customary manner losing their ninth straight to the Phillies, 7 to 4. The only unusual item connected with this statement is that Dazzy Vance was on the firing line for Brooklyn.

The Dazzler was outpitched by Claude (Weeping) Willoughby, who has specialized in

TURNESA ONLY U.S. GOLFER SURVIVING IN BRITISH MEET

Play Finals Friday Afternoon; Whitcombe Beats Leo Diegel

Moorstown, (AP)— Play in the thousand guineas professional golf tournament reached the semi-final round Friday morning with Joe Turnesa, of New York, the sole American surviving for the semi-finals Friday afternoon.

Turnesa played in brilliant fashion to trounce J. J. Taylor of Great Britain, 5 and 4, but Leo Diegel, the second American, was beaten by Charles Whitcombe, British Ryder cup winner, 2 and 1.

In the British half of the quarter-finals, George Duncan, who eliminated Walter Hagen in the first round Thursday, was beaten by W. H. Davies, one up.

Herbert C. Jolly, Great Britain, outlasted Archie Compston in a long drawn out battle, winning one up at the twenty-first hole.

In the semi-finals Friday afternoon, Turnesa was matched with Whitcombe and Jolly with Davies.

PERLICK LOSES ON FOUL TO SANTIAGO

Kalamazoo Youth Has a Thing His Own Way Until Low Blow

Armando Santiago, Chicago, 132 3-4 won on a foul from Herman Perlick, Kalamazoo, Mich., 135 1-4.

Sailor Fay Fosky, Los Angeles, 133 won a decision over Henry Perlick, Kalamazoo, 136 3-4 in 10 rounds.

Fred Tompkins, Milwaukee, 131 1-4 won a decision over Paddy Walthier, Chicago, 133, in six rounds.

Vic Walters, Milwaukee, light weight won a decision over Mike Cianciola, Milwaukee, in six rounds.

Milwaukee (AP)— Herman Perlick, Kalamazoo, Mich., junior lightweight, was having things his own way with Armando Santiago, until the Cuban received a low blow in the eighth round and was given the decision in a 10-round feature bout at the Auditorium here Thursday night.

Herman's continuous left gunning held sway up to the fifth when the Cuban was able to stop the fury long enough to bang two hard rights to the heart. Herman shook off the effects, however, and led until the bell. Herman opened fire again in the seventh. In the eighth there was little advantage when the foul occurred.

It was 10 minutes before Santiago was sufficiently recovered from the blow to be returned to the ring. Early in the bout he suffered a bad cut on the lip.

Sailor Fay Fosky, Los Angeles, scored frequently with his left after making a slow start to win a decision over Henry Perlick, twin brother of Herman, in 10 rounds. Henry danced in and out for four rounds, pounding some substantial rights to the chin.

Kosky kept Henry busy covering up in the fifth. Perlick received four hard lefts to the face in the sixth and he was clinging at the bell. Kosky punched fast in the remaining rounds and had his left in Perlick's face most of the time.

Freddy Tompkins, Milwaukee southpaw, felled Paddy Walthier three times. The first and third knockdowns were for the count of one.

ARNIE BORG BREAKS 700 YARD SWIM MARK

Santa Maria, Cal. (AP)— Arnie Borg, Swedish distance swimmer, broke the world's record for the 700 yard swim at the Santa Maria municipal pool Friday night.

His time, 8 minutes, two and three-fifths seconds, chopped 27 seconds off the former record held by Ray Ruddy of the New York Athletic club.

The record breaking swim was clocked by three official A. A. U. timers. In passing the 600-yard mark in six minutes and 52 seconds Borg also equalled his own world's record for that distance.

American league players say Jack Hayes, with Washington, and Charley Gehring, with Detroit, are two second basemen who travel to their left so well that it is almost impossible to drive a ball by them.

Eastern Teams Offer West Little Resistance

BY JOHN B. FOSTER

New York—The resistance of the east to the west in the National league has been a flat failure in the baseball season to date.

The Giants, from whom the most was expected, have been weak and unsettled. The Boston Braves have done better than some thought they might do. The Brooklyn team is almost in a condition of total collapse. The Phillies would be a better ball club than they have proved to be if they possessed real pitchers.

The Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals have divided honors in the east about alike. Pittsburgh has been fair. The Cincinnati Reds have not proved that they can beat

BLACKBURN SAYS SHIRES IS THROUGH

White Sox Manager Won't Put Up With Bad Boy's Capers

Detroit (AP)— If manager "Lena" Blackburn's wishes are respected, Art Shires, the belligerent bench playing first baseman, is through with the White Sox.

Reflecting over his fist fight with the Texas youth, in which both received facial decorations, Blackburn said he would never permit Shires to play for him as long as he managed the club.

"I don't know what will be done with him, but as long as I'm here, he won't be around," said Blackburn, who is here for a series with the Tigers. "Shires has borne a grudge against me since he was suspended for breaking training rules down in Texas. He was 'blowing off' constantly since then and probably is doing as much now. I can't see how a fellow can get that way. He is just a boy, of course, but I can't put up with it."

Meanwhile, Shires was undecided whether to continue his law studies or to appeal for reinstatement after 10 days suspension. He and Blackburn engaged in a fist fight in the White Sox clubhouse Wednesday, following an exchange of words on the diamond where Blackburn criticized him for "capering around like a baby" and not taking baseball seriously enough.

The Ripon team was led by Harry Hansen, captain of the Lawrence team and Arthur Parker who represented Lawrence in the singles tennis meet at Beloit, May 25. According to announcement made by Ripon authorities Friday, representatives from all six colleges will take part in the meet.

MICHIGAN NINE MEETS PURDUE BOILERMAKERS

Chicago (AP)— Michigan stalked its undoubted lead in the big league baseball race Friday by invading the stronghold of the dangerous boiler-makers of Purdue.

Purdue won its first three conference games and then dropped four in succession and was ready to lose any number of chances with a revamped lineup to add a winning punch and topple the undefeated Wolverines from their perch.

Indiana journeyed to Minnesota in the other conference battle on Friday's card.

Milwaukee (AP)— Armando Santiago, Chicago, won on a foul from Herman Perlick, Kalamazoo (8). Fay Fosky, Los Angeles, outpointed Henry Perlick, Kalamazoo, (10).

Glenna Collett Great Admirer Of Wethered

BY LAWRENCE PERRY
Copyright 1929

NEW YORK—When Glenna Collett, a day or two before the British Ladies' open championship began, picked Joyce Wethered as the probable winner, she spoke not by way of a generous international gesture but out of conviction. The American girl has always had the warmest admiration for her English cousin and more than once has referred to her as one of the world's great golfers, irrespective of sex.

Should the two meet in the final of the current tourney, as many think is likely, Miss Collett's admiration for Miss Wethered will not affect her game adversely; it will, quite the contrary, steel her to as skilled and intrepid a task as she has ever played. For that is the sort of sports-woman she is. And, considering the English girl's three-year retiring from tournament golf, who knows what may happen?

The rivalry between the two girls, which has left such an indelible impression of splendid technique upon the American champion, began in 1923 at the ladies' championship at Troon. At the time Miss Collett had won the national women's championship

In 1922, when she was a novice. In 1923 she was dethroned and in 1924, although in that year when she was out of the semi-finals at Troon, she had won all other tournaments in which she had entered, some six in all, so Glenna took with her to Troon the reputation of being America's leading woman golfer.

She met Miss Wethered in the third round and while she played golf as perfect as she had ever played, she was put out after three holes when but one stroke over par was required. But her opponent had played the fifteen holes in even time, and was five under par figure. Which was an indication of the sort of player the English girl is.

Commenting upon this game, Miss Collett said: "I cannot imagine any more perfectly played round in competition than Joyce Wethered's. One of the pleasantest events in American golf would be a visit to these sores to be."

leaves. It is hard for me to tell you what a golfer she really is, I want to have you see her in action. As to her personality, Miss Collett said she was as amiable, courteous, and as a gentleman — is all, you would expect a real English girl would be a visit to these sores to be."

RICH GIRL-POOR GIRL

By RUTH DEWEY GROVES

CHAPTER XXXIII
The funeral director was summoned and avowed that no one had touched the belt in his establishment to the best of his knowledge. To avoid working on a misleading clew the police obtained thumbprints of all persons who might have touched the belt after the tragedy. None corresponded with the print on the belt.

"The man who left that thumbprint was the last man to see young Judson alive," Inspector Markeson said in assigning men from the homicide squad to the case. "It looks like a tough job, boys, but I want you to clear it up. Good luck to you."

He knew too that Mr. Dazel had received a cable from Amos Judson, saying he was flying from London to Cherbourg to catch the first boat sailing from that port to New York.

It served to heighten his determination to carry out his plans as quickly as possible.

He sent urgent messages to Pamela, asking to see her. She did not answer. For the time being Huck was as entirely outside her world as though he'd never known her. Even the flowers he showered upon her brought no word of acknowledgment.

His failure to reach her compelled him to notify Ras Poberlin of a delay in the plans they had made on his recent visit to the man's "poultry farm."

Poberlin's wife complained over the letter. She said she'd been to a lot of trouble carrying out Huck's instructions. She damned him up one side and down the other for his "swell ideas."

Pamela, beautifully recumbent upon her lacy pillows, where she wept fitfully and pitied herself for having lost her only brother, would have been amused at the result of Rose Poberlin's attempt to create an atmosphere fit to receive her.

Her amusement would have been short-lived, however, if Huck's determination to introduce her to the Poberlins had been known to her.

Knowing nothing of either Rose Poberlin or Huck's plans, she busied herself with selecting becoming garb.

Fluffed in his efforts for the time being, Huck set himself to devise some way of breaking down the barrier she had erected between them. He was still unsuccessful when he received a message that sent him in haste to see Duke Broggan.

Duke Broggan told Huck that the police did not regard Harold Judson's death as either an accident or suicide.

"Who passed you the information from headquarters?" Huck asked.

Duke shook his head. "It's straight," he said, "and it'll cost you a century note."

Huck still was unaware of the discovery of his thumbprint on the belt buckle. However, he decided not to ignore the warning Duke had given him.

In spite of what the newspapers said—some leaned on the suicide theory while others suspected it to be an accident—Mildred did not believe that Harold's death was either.

She had learned of it the night it happened. Driven nearly frantic by Harold's failure to come to her as he had promised, she telephoned after several hours of waiting and was told by the operator who recognized her voice, that he was dead.

The next day she was calm enough to go to Stephen and tell him all that had preyed on her mind so torturingly since his arrest.

He listened in silence.

"You must appeal to your family and get a lawyer now," Mildred said to him when she finished.

Stephen reached out to take her hands in his.

"You don't believe Harold met his death accidentally or by suicide, do you?" he asked as quietly as he could.

"Of course not," Mildred answered unguardedly. "I'm sure someone killed him!"

"Because he was ready to talk? You said that, didn't you?" Mildred nodded. "I think he was. If he'd come to me that night and I'd told him the way they threatened me..." She stopped in sudden confusion, remembering she had not told Stephen of the attempt to silence her.

Stephen leaned forward and tugged at her hands. "There," he exclaimed, "I know you were keeping something back! Don't you see? If they murdered that kid because they thought he was about to make a confession to you, Mildred..."

"But Harold is dead," Mildred quavered. "What can they do now?"

"What can they do? If they find out what you've told me they..." He paused, but Mildred read his unspoken thought.

"I'm not afraid," she said. "I know you're not," Stephen declared warmly, "but with all we haven't any proof."

"Aren't you going to do anything about what I've told you?" she asked.

For a few seconds Stephen evaded her direct glance; then he looked up. "What can I do?" he asked simply.

Mildred stood up. A lump in her throat choked her. Stephen stood, too, and struggled with a temptation to tell her why he couldn't act.

"I think I understand," Mildred said striving to subdue the catch in her voice. "You don't want to drag Pamela's name into it."

Stephen started and opened his mouth to speak; then closed it to a firm, hard line. He could not tell her that it was her own safety he was thinking of. She was too fearless. Better to have her think he was protecting Pamela than let her risk her life.

"If there was any proof," he said doubtfully and stopped.

"A lawyer might find proof," Mildred retorted, "but if you want to stay here in jail just because..."

"If I promise to get a lawyer will you give me your word not to say anything to anyone about all this?" Stephen pleaded suddenly.

Mildred's unsteady chin went up several inches. "Yes," she said.

"If I can prove that Harold was murdered I'll do it," she said fiercely.

Stephen grasped her by the shoulders. "Keep out of it, please," he begged.

He paused and added, purposely to mislead her, "you might make a wrong move."

Mildred jerked herself away from him.

"Why shouldn't everyone know that Huck hated you because he was jealous of Pamela?" she asked.

"I'll do what I think I ought to, regardless of her."

Stephen groaned, but Mildred was adamant. She left him without giving the promise he had tried to exact.

LINK CHILDREN START SUIT TO BREAK WILL

Oshkosh—(P)—The action seeking to break the will of the late William Link, formerly of Milwaukee, was continued in circuit court here today. Judge J. C. Carroll, Milwaukee, was on the bench.

The action was brought by the four children of the deceased, who were cut off with $10 each. They are Mrs. Catherine Macco, Chicago; Mrs. Margaret Nichols, California; Miss Frances and William Links, both of Milwaukee.

They contend that the will made by their father on Sept. 10, just 10 days before his death here, was made under influence and while he was suffering under illusions resulting from his relief in spiritualism. Under the terms of the will, Linky $35,000 estate is to go to his niece and nephew, Mayme and Christ Monday, of this city. He made his home with them for a short time before his death.

WORLD HAS GROWN VERY SMALL, SAYS RETIRED GENERAL

Washington—(P)—A split-second world was described by Major General George O. Squier, retired, former chief of the Army corps, in his testimony before the Senate Interstate Commerce committee.

"We're living in a fourteenth of a second world," he said. "The man in the farthest corner of the earth, even in the antipodes, never is more than the far away by Radio communication from the rest of the world."

He added he was "astounded" recently to watch three girls in a new Baltimore exchange supervising connections of thousands of telephone calls through an automatic switchboard.

General Squier is the inventor of a device which made possible transmission of five telephone conversations and 20 telegraph messages over one wire at the same time.

38 COUNTIES END CAMPAIGN TO WIPE OUT BOVINE T. B.

Outagamie-co Not Included in Honor Roll of Wisconsin Communities

BY RUBY A. BLACK (Washington Correspondent of the Post-Crescent)

Washington—Thirty-eight Wisconsin counties have successfully completed the campaign against bovine tuberculosis.

In the United States, 708 counties including only two entire states—Maine and North Carolina—have shown that the extent of tuberculosis among the cattle is less than one-half of one per cent, as disclosed by the last tuberculosis test.

Increased demand for dairy cattle, as well as dairy products and also increased demand for hogs for packing and better prices for all these products result from the completion of the tuberculosis eradication work says Dr. A. E. Wright, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture.

The Wisconsin counties which have eradicated bovine tuberculosis and are thus placed in the "modified accredited areas" with the date to which they will remain within the areas pending complete re-examinations are:

Ashland Jan. 2, 1927; Barron, Jan. 3, 1929; Bayfield, Jan. 2, 1931; Buffalo, Jan. 2, 1931;
Chippewa, Nov. 1, 1929; Clark, Nov. 1, 1929; Door, Dec. 1, 1931; Douglas, Jan. 2, 1931; Dunn, Nov. 1, 1930; Eau Claire, Oct. 1, 1929; Florence, Sept. 1, 1931; Forest, Jan. 2, 1931; Green Lake, Aug. 1, 1931; Iron, Jan. 2, 1931; Jackson, Nov. 1, 1930; Juneau, Jan. 3, 1931;
La Crosse, Nov. 1, 1930; Langlade, Feb. 1, 1931; Lincoln, Nov. 1, 1930; Manitowish, Nov. 1, 1930; Marquette, Dec. 1, 1931; Monroe, Nov. 1, 1930; Oconto, Jan. 3, 1930; Polk, Feb. 1, 1931; Portage, Nov. 1, 1930; Price, Jan. 2, 1932; Rusk, Jan. 2, 1932; St. Croix, Dec. 1, 1931; Sawyer, Jan. 2, 1932; Shawano, May 1, 1932; Taylor, Nov. 1, 1930; Trempealeau, Sept. 1, 1931; Vilas, Nov. 1, 1930; Washburn, Jan. 2, 1932; Waupaca, June 1, 1930; Wausau, Dec. 1, 1931; and Wood, Jan. 3, 1931.

Necessary precautions will be taken to prevent the disease from becoming tuberculosis in all these counties and the required retesting of previously infected herds will be done, says Dr. Wright.

PROBE COMMITTEE MEETS NEXT WEEK

Madison—(P)—The special joint legislative committee appointed to investigate election campaigns back to 1924 for the purposes of recommending changes in the Wisconsin

LIFE'S ODDITIES

By George Clark

"He said they weren't imaginative enough to make good true stories."

Dozens Risk Own Lives In Effort To Save Injured

Cleveland —(AP)— Many stories of heroic efforts at rescue work in the Cleveland Clinic catastrophe were forthcoming today but they were made tragic because many of them were in vain.

Sign-painters, butchers, salesmen, firemen, nurses, policemen—all joined in desperate efforts to save those trapped in the building. Many of the rescuers collapsed and one policeman nearly gave his life.

One of the most spectacular deeds was that of Patrolman Ernest Staab, 30. Staab, heedless of the gas fumes which were still intense when he reached the clinic soon after the explosion, went in again and again, appearing outside with dead and dying. Twenty-one persons were counted lying on the ground before Staab collapsed, his lungs choked with gas, and was taken to Mount Sinai hospital.

His condition is precarious and he was for a time reported dead. Charles H. Porter, a butcher, suffered a broken arm and was badly gassed as he dragged a nurse from a doorway.

Seventeen persons were taken out by W. H. Dickerson, a salesman and two others whose names he did not know, but fifteen of the victims died before they could be given relief.

William J. Brownlow, staff photographer and artist for the Clinic, laughed at the broken right arm—the one by which he earned his living received when he broke a window to allow three women to escape. Ten persons climbed from a window down a ladder which Robert Charles, negro automobile washer, held aloft because it was too short. Dr. George W. Crile, principal owner of the clinic, himself worked tirelessly and supervised a blood transfusion

POST NOTICES OF COMING ELECTION

Referendum Vote Will Be Held in Appleton on Tuesday, June 4

Notices of the referendum election on Tuesday, June 4, were posted about the city by police Thursday. Ballots will be cast on two questions. They are:

"Shall the City of Appleton purchase the local property of the River-view Country club as a site for a new high school building?"

"Shall the City of Appleton continue to maintain the present jug ordinance?"

Because the common council did not decide to submit the question on the dog ordinance to a referendum until after it had had the notices of the school site referendum printed it was necessary to have another set of notices printed.

As usual the polls will be open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock in the evening.

The polling places are located as follows:

First ward—First precinct, First ward school; second precinct, Trans store.

Second ward—First precinct, Armory G; second precinct, basement city hall.

Third ward—First precinct, Nash garage, 527 W. College-ave; second precinct, Seamless Tube Co., Spencer and Story-sts.

Fourth ward, First precinct, John-st and Walters-ave; second precinct McKinley school, west entrance.

Fifth ward—First precinct, Public service building, stock fair grounds, second precinct, Washington school house.

Sixth ward—First precinct, Fink Grocery store; second precinct, Arnold Egg store.

which failed to save the life of one of his colleagues.

Battalion Fire Chief James Flynn and his driver, Louis Hildebrand, the first to reach the scene, groped through the gas to bring out the first bodies.

Several firemen were overcome as they battled to reach the victims through skylights and windows. Twenty-three members of one company will be sent to hospitals for observation.

Nurses, too, worked without pause, many of them with tears in their eyes because their co-workers had been killed.

PHLOX IS FIRST IN FLOWER VOTE AMONG STUDENTS

Count one for the phlox! After weeks of sales talks on the merits of the phlox, columbine, violet and rose as the flower to represent the nation, a vote was taken at McKinley junior high school and the phlox won with 35 votes. The rose came second with 30 votes, and the columbine third with 14. The violet affixed the recognition of only one voter.

Prior to the vote, talks on the four flowers were given by Miss Betty Rottler, phlox; Miss Lillian Osinga, columbine; Miss Gloria Schroeder, rose; and Miss Harriet Drexler, violet.

At the same time a reading on how to take care of and preserve flowers was presented by Miss Caroline Boswell, and Donald Burhams gave three birds calls. Miss Lucille Beckstein announced the speakers, and votes were counted by Misses Catherine Becken, Jean Diderich and Camille Verbrugg.
